

Jenna Mobley Bio

Jenna Mobley graduated Magna Cum Laude from the University of Georgia with a Bachelors of Science degree in Early Childhood Education. While studying in Athens, she also completed endorsements in the areas of Early Childhood Mathematics and Instructional Technology. Currently, she is pursuing a graduate degree in Special Education, specifically in behavior and learning disabilities. The highlight of her educational endeavors thus far has been teaching primary grades in Ghana while studying international education and social work.

Ms. Mobley's teaching experiences include teaching 1st grade and 4th grade, along with serving as a reading early intervention specialist. In addition, she has taught in many schools around the world including an orphanage in Tanzania, a homeless shelter in Ireland, and a primary school in Ghana.

She has worked with children in a variety of settings outside the classroom as well. She served as a lead Sunday School teacher with North Point Ministries in Athens, Georgia where she helped develop the curriculum model and planned community events. She has also taught music lessons and led a variety of extracurricular music groups such as a performing fiddle group and a guitar club. In addition, she has been a yoga teacher for young children. Ms. Mobley believes in the importance of giving children the opportunity to discover their own individual passions and interests.

Jenna Mobley has served as a leader in her community, primarily through her work with HERO for Children, a non-profit organization based out of Atlanta that provides quality of life care for children infected with or affected by HIV/AIDs. She has been involved with the organization for five years, holding positions on the Executive Board and the Board of Directors. Her efforts include leading teams of volunteers towards fundraising goals and effective interactions with the children in the program.

Jenna Mobley is a native of the Atlanta area and loves exploring the Virginia Highlands on her bike. She also enjoys traveling around the world, creating art, playing music, and being outdoors whether she is hiking, rock climbing, or kayaking.

Last year, Ms. Mobley taught second grade at Springdale Park.
