Hope-Hill Elementary School Community,

We now have the parameters for the re-opening of school and intense planning begins. Our new superintendent, Dr. Lisa Herring, informed all stakeholders on Friday that we would begin the school year with virtual teaching and learning for at least the first 9 weeks of school. The start date for students will be Monday, August 24th. While there has been ongoing discussions and planning, Hope-Hill teachers and staff will begin intense formal planning on August 3rd. Most important will be the development of plans to allow families to come to the school building to receive supplies, technology, meet the teacher, and take diagnostic assessments.

Over the next month, you will hear much more about what this 9-week virtual plan for teaching and learning looks like. This upcoming 9-week period will be different from the last 9 weeks. We can be much more proactive now, get better organized, and work to still provide the best learning experience possible.

New student ONLINE registration continues. All students entering Hope-Hill ES for the first time must complete the full registration process. Details can be found on the Hope-Hill website.

While we know students begin on August 24th, student schedules may be a bit different. I promise to keep you informed and updated. We will be scheduling some parent zoom meetings in the near future to share information. In the meantime, if you have any specific questions, please feel free to email me at mtwheeler@atlanta.k12.ga.us. Please follow us on social media for additional parent updates.

Be safe and stay well,
Maureen Wheeler
