New this year

EACH MORNING PARENTS WILL NEED TO CHECK IN WITH YOUR CHILDREN.

- 1. Fever. Any temperature of 100.4° Fahrenheit (38° Centigrade) is a fever, and children shouldn't go to school with fevers. Not only are fevers a sign of some sort of infection, it also usually means that they are shedding germs right and left. There's just no way you can know whether things will get better or worse — and while giving them medicine might bring the fever down, it won't stop them from being contagious.
- 2. Vomiting or diarrhea. It's unfair all around — to the child and the school or daycare — to send a child with vomiting or diarrhea no matter how well they might look to you. The same 20-24 hour rule applies, although it's worth checking with your doctor for advice. Some viruses, such as norovirus, can be contagious for an extra day or so. You do not want to be the parent responsible for an outbreak of norovirus at your school or daycare, trust me.

EACH MORNING PARENTS WILL NEED TO CHECK IN WITH YOUR CHILDREN.

- 3. Bad pain. If your child has a sore knee or a mild headache but is otherwise acting okay, it's likely fine to give some medicine and send them off. But if the pain is anything more than mild, don't do it. Pain is always something you want to keep an eye on. Keep them home and call your doctor instead.
- 4. Coughing that won't stop — or anything different about your child's breathing. If we kept every child with a cold home during the winter months, there would be a lot of empty classrooms. But a really bad cough not only makes it hard for a child to learn or play, it also warrants a call to the doctor, as does breathing that sounds or looks different from usual.

Student Absences

- If you know your child is going to be absent, please let your teacher know by sending a note or email.
- Excused Absences (though excused these still count against the school attendance rate)
 - Illness
 - Death in the family
 - Doctor's Appointments
- Unexcused Absences:
 - Vacation
 - Grandma/grandpa/family visiting
 - Birthdays

It is our goal for students to have fewer than 6 absences for the school year! We had 89% of all HHES students last year with 6 or fewer absences.

Food Allergies

- Please complete a clinic card for your child.
- Update this information yearly or if something changes
- If there is an allergy, you must do a 504 meeting to ensure the staff is informed and trained.
- Lunch staff will also monitor food on student's tray.

DID YOU KNOW?

► 8% of students are affected by food allergies, and the incidence is increasing.

► 1 of 5 students with food allergies will have a reaction while at school.

► 25% of severe food allergy reactions at school happen to students with no previous known food allergy.

A Day in the Life of a HHES Student

Food Allergies

1. Let your child's teacher and school nurse know. Complete the Hope-Hill Medical Form. You can even mention it to other support team members like - Bus Driver, Cafeteria Staff, Administrators.
2. If your child has an Epinephrine Pen, please provide an EpiPen to the school. The EpiPen will be housed with the school nurse. Make sure that everyone is trained on how to use it.
3. Volunteer at School during parties or class field trips. Stay in frequent contact with your child's teacher & "Room Parent". (A room parent is someone who volunteers to help the teacher organize/set up parties, etc.)
4. Involve your Kid - Be sure to read books with your child about food allergies. Help them practice by speaking up and reminding others about their food allergies. Older children can read food labels. Teach your children to speak up and advocate for themselves.
5. Pack safe meals and snacks.

We love our volunteers!

Every year, ALL volunteers are required to complete a new Level 2 form and provide a photocopy of ID.

Level 3 forms will need to be completed and turned into Atlanta Public Schools for parents who go on field trips with students. This also means that you will need to go through a district background check.

Ashley Anderson, Parent Liaison will coordinate all school volunteers.
Contact Info : Ashley.Anderson@atlanta.k12.ga.us

Please sign in & out at the Front Office.
