Social & Emotion Intelligence

Our Families

Re-Engaging Families

Strategic Priority #1

Design an academic system that ensures transfer of learning teaching strategies to engage students in real world authentic problem solving & performance task to demonstrate their learning

Rationale: Deep understanding occurs when students are engaged in conceptual learning and transference of skills across all contexts in real-world situations. True content mastery occurs when students use acquired knowledge to construct meaning in creative, innovative ways.

Strategic Priority #2

Expand our student support system by focusing on proactive strategies to help alleviate & coup with the social, economic & health barrier faced by our students.

Rationale: The socioeconomic and physical barriers have a direct impact on student performance.. It is vital that a school plans proactively to support the whole child with a comprehensive approach to wraparound services.

Strategic Priority #3

Adopt APS's "Removing Barrier" School-Based Family Engagement Model to methodically "meet" families where they are, while identifying and providing solutions for families' core needs while promoting the academic well-being of the student.

Rationale: Many of our families are adversely impacted by social and economic determinants. In many cases, these factors are creating family instability. This family instability directly correlates to inadequate students achievement and cognitive growth as well as social and emotional obstacles.
