

WASHINGTONIAN

WASHINGTONIAN

ll

We're on our way . . .

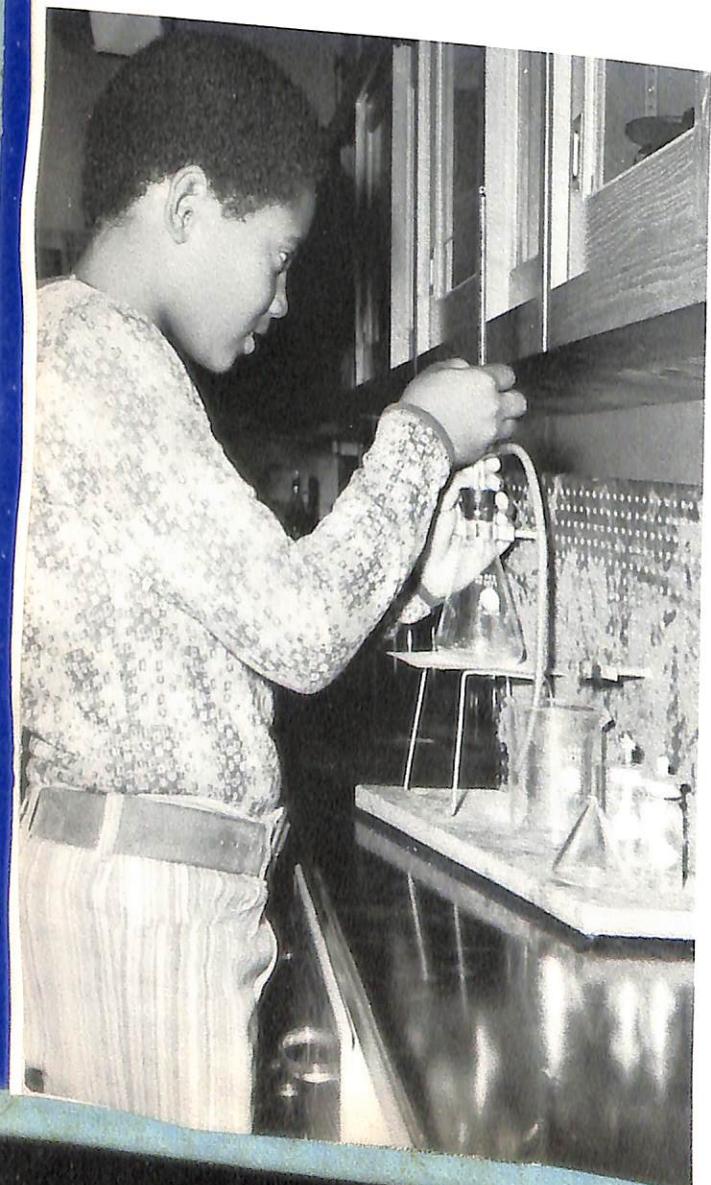

In search of a better world;

We're on our way . . .

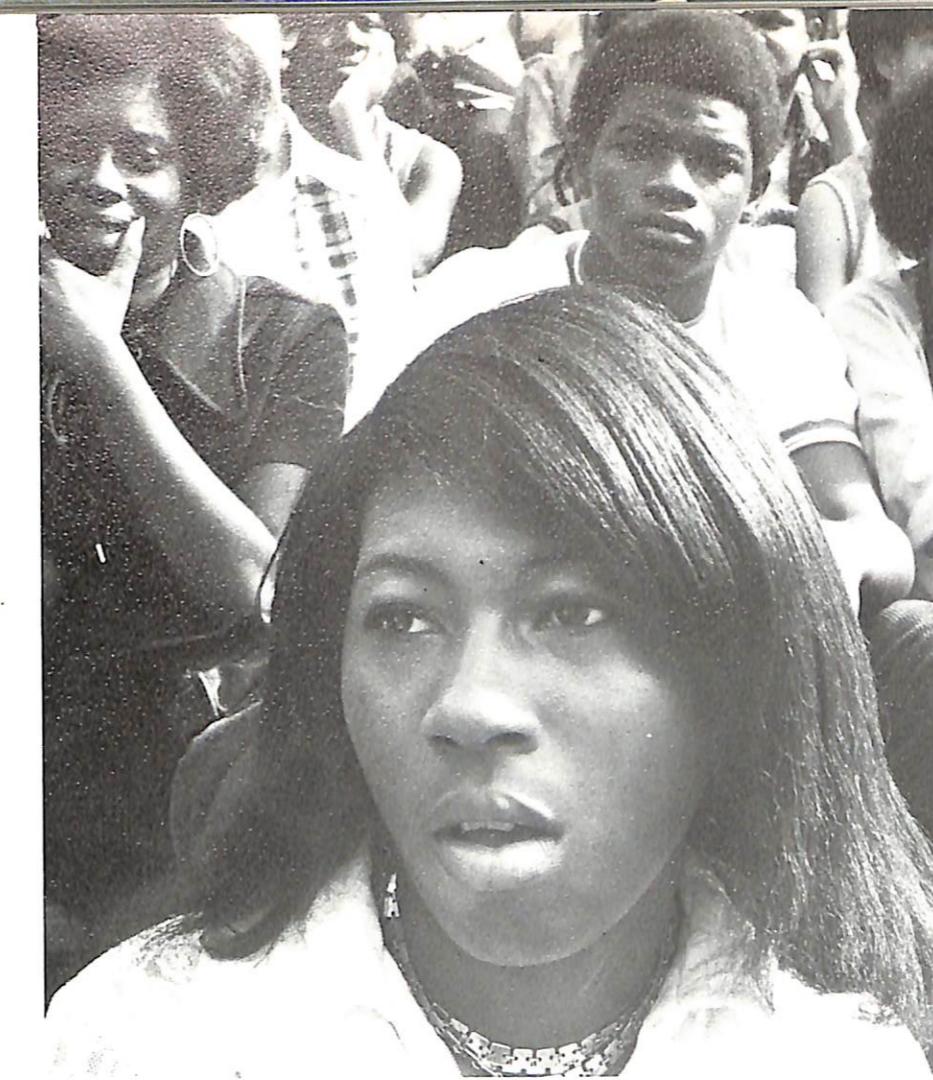

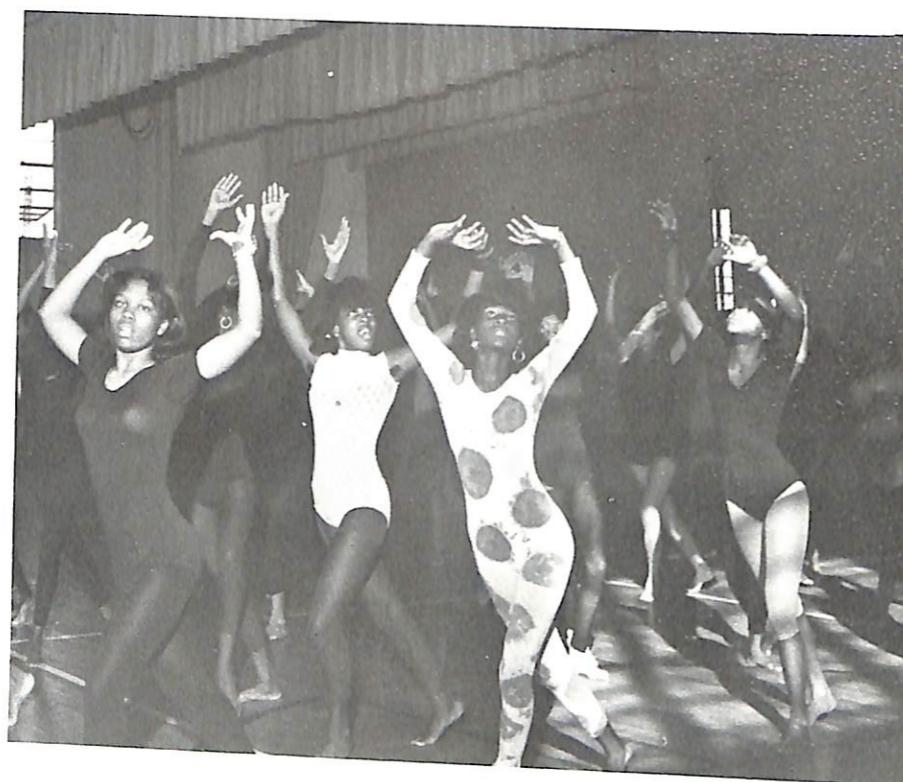

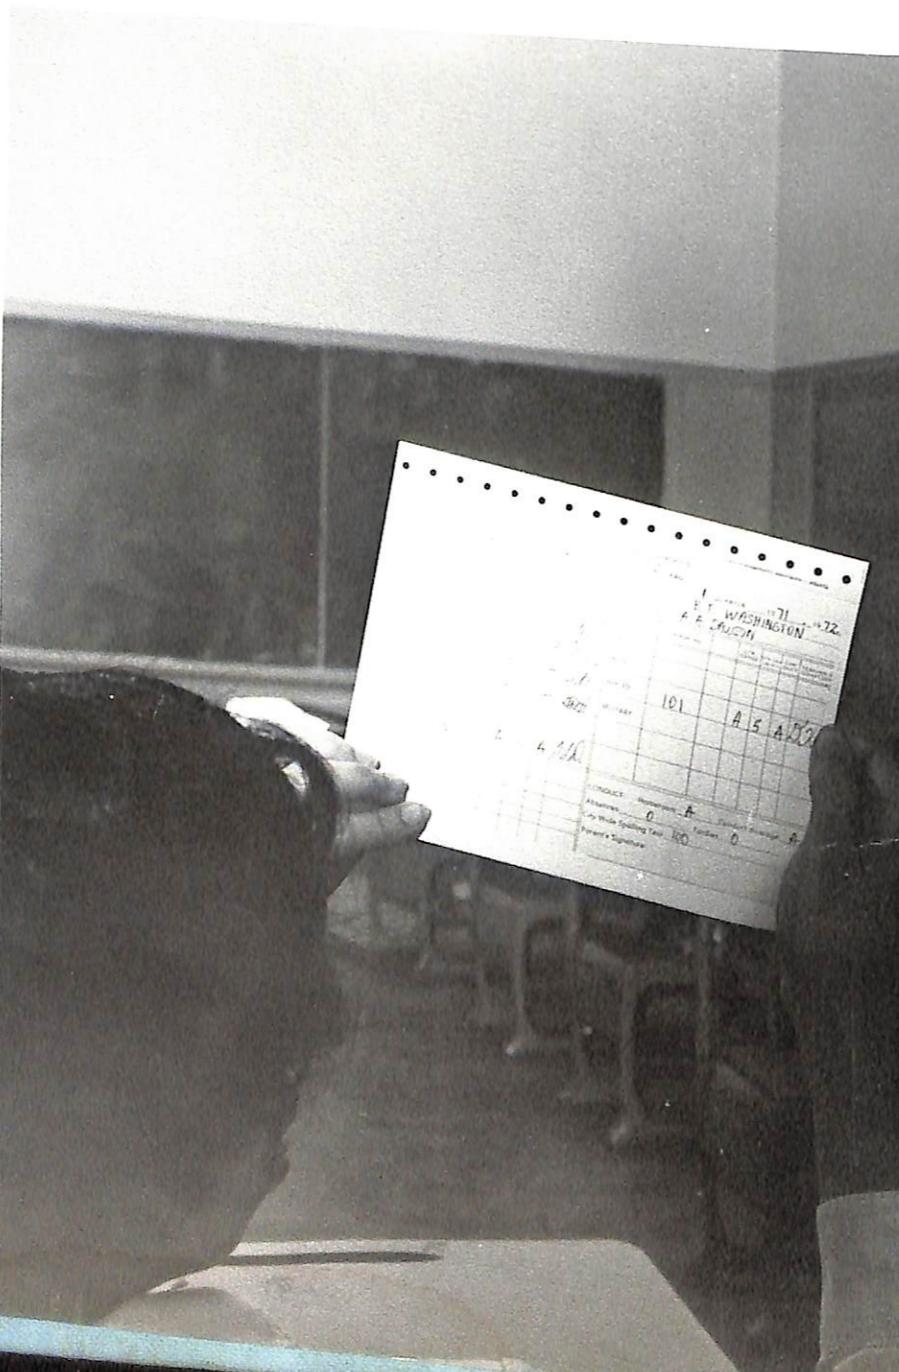

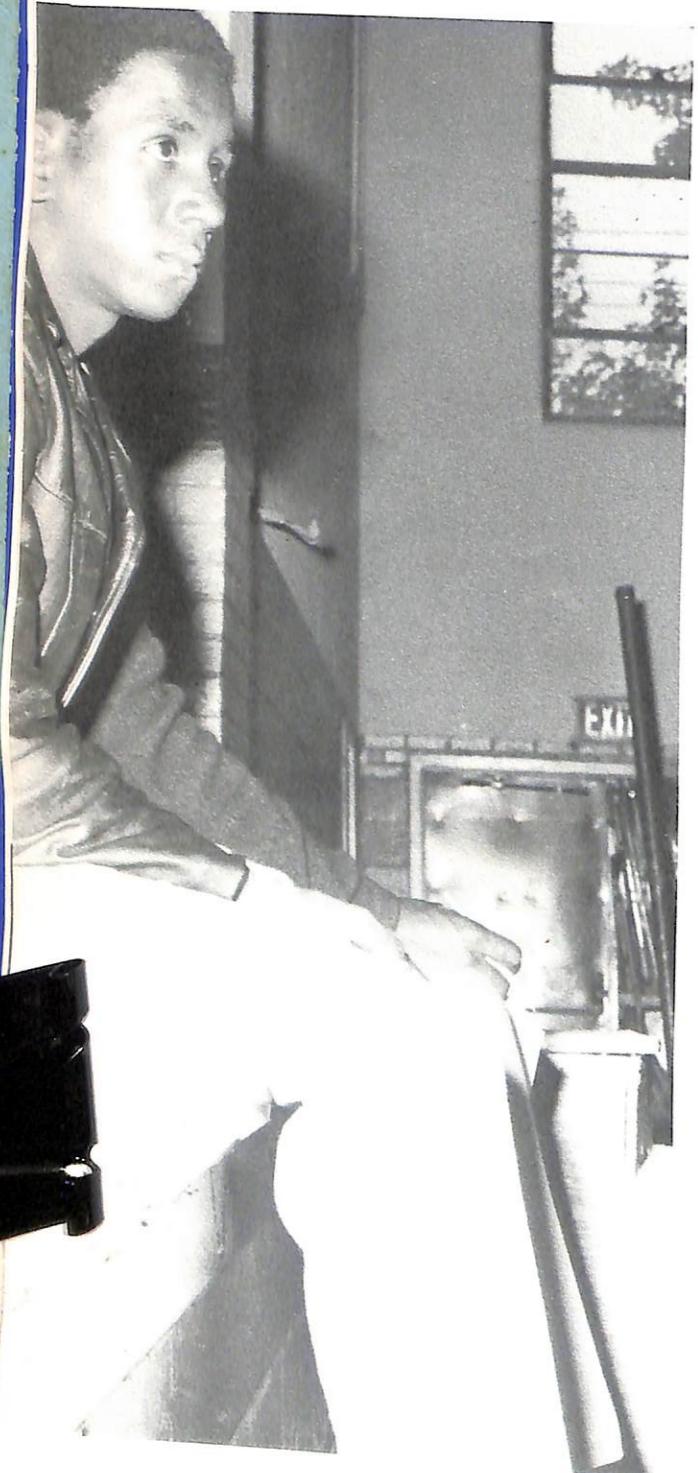

We start out walking

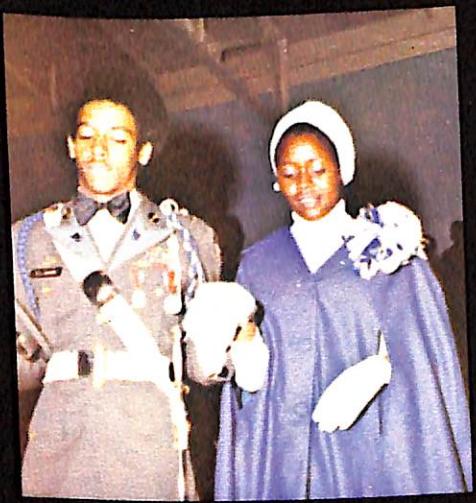

And learn to run;

Dreaming the impossible . . .

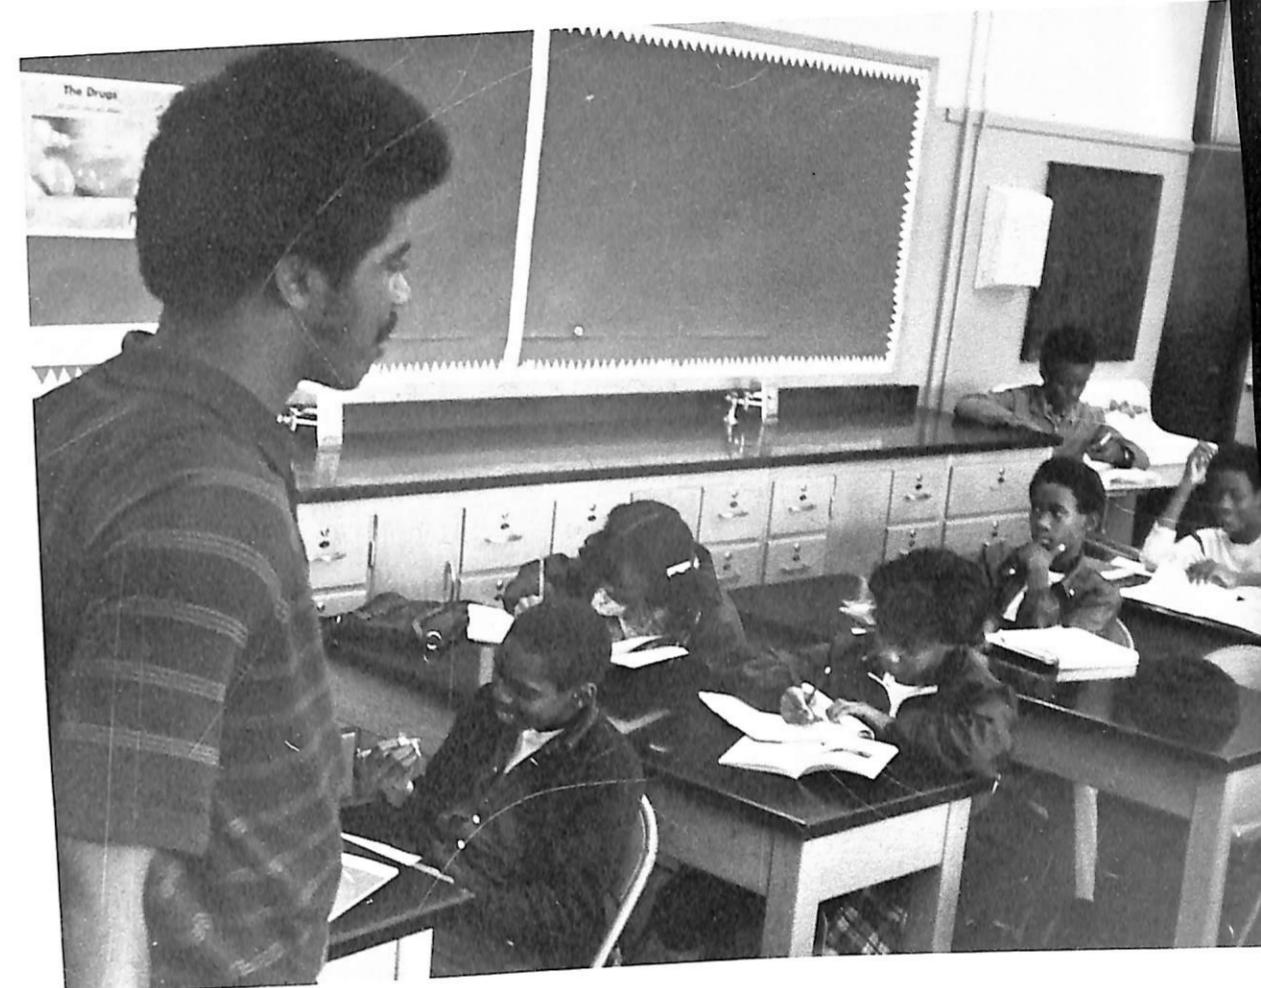

And seeking to conquer it,

We reach for happiness . . .

That strengthens and unites us.

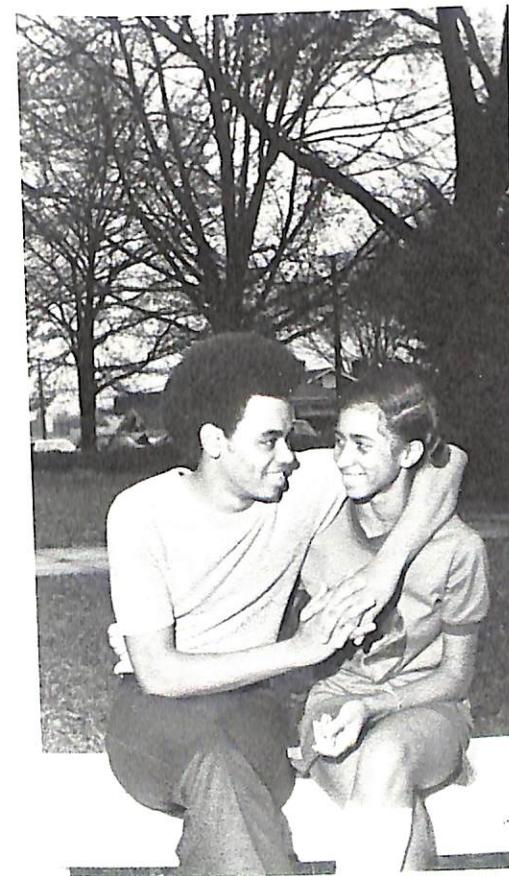

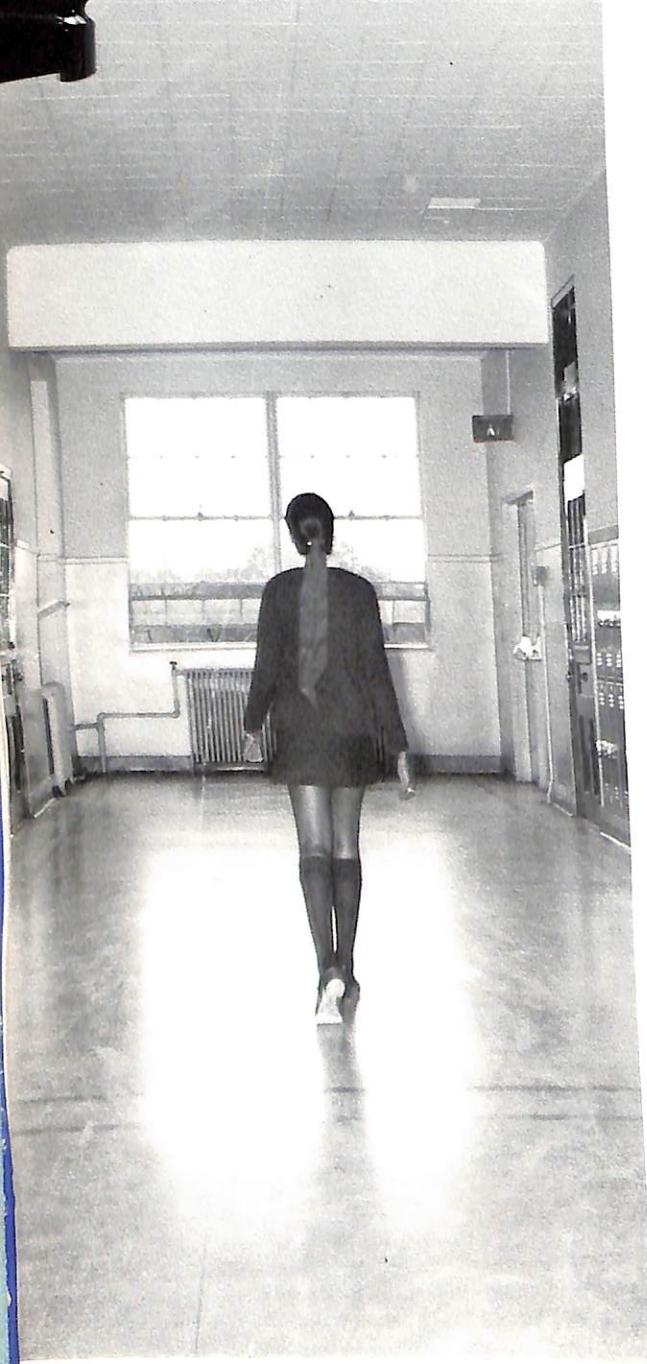

Sharing emotions and ideas . . .

To gain understanding,

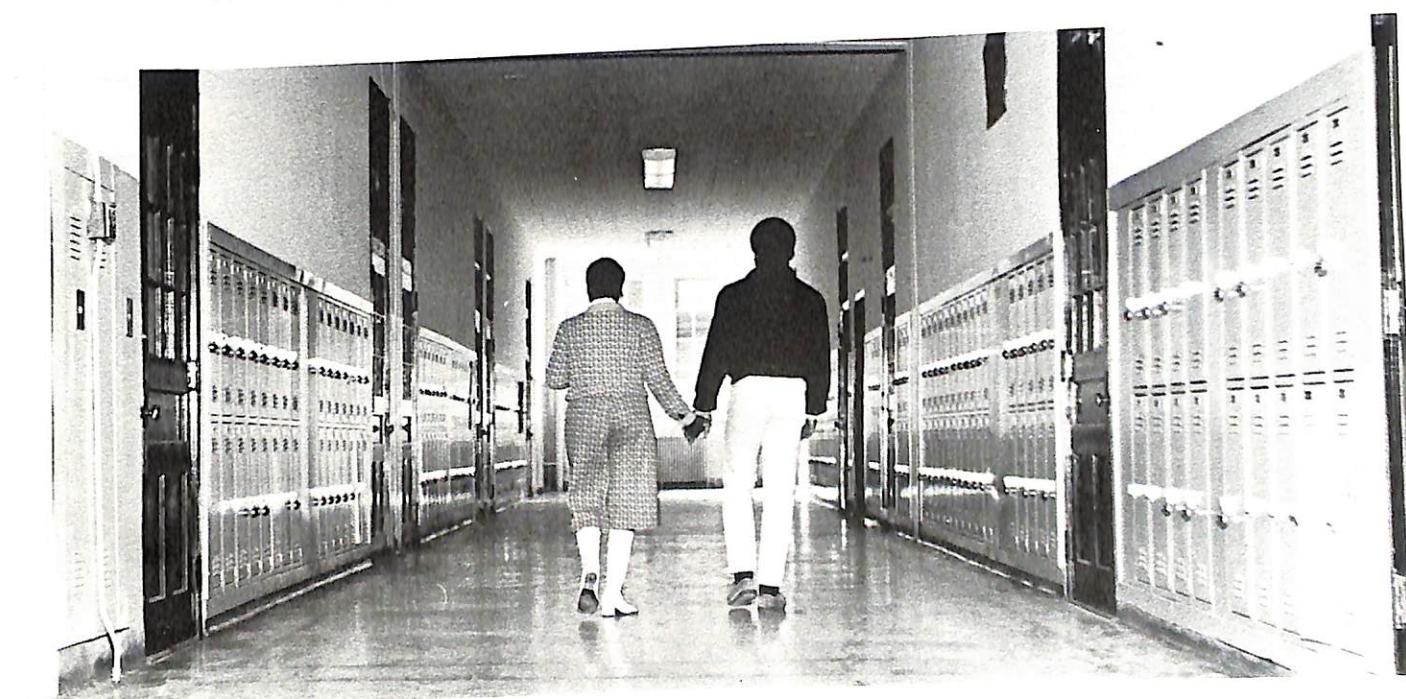

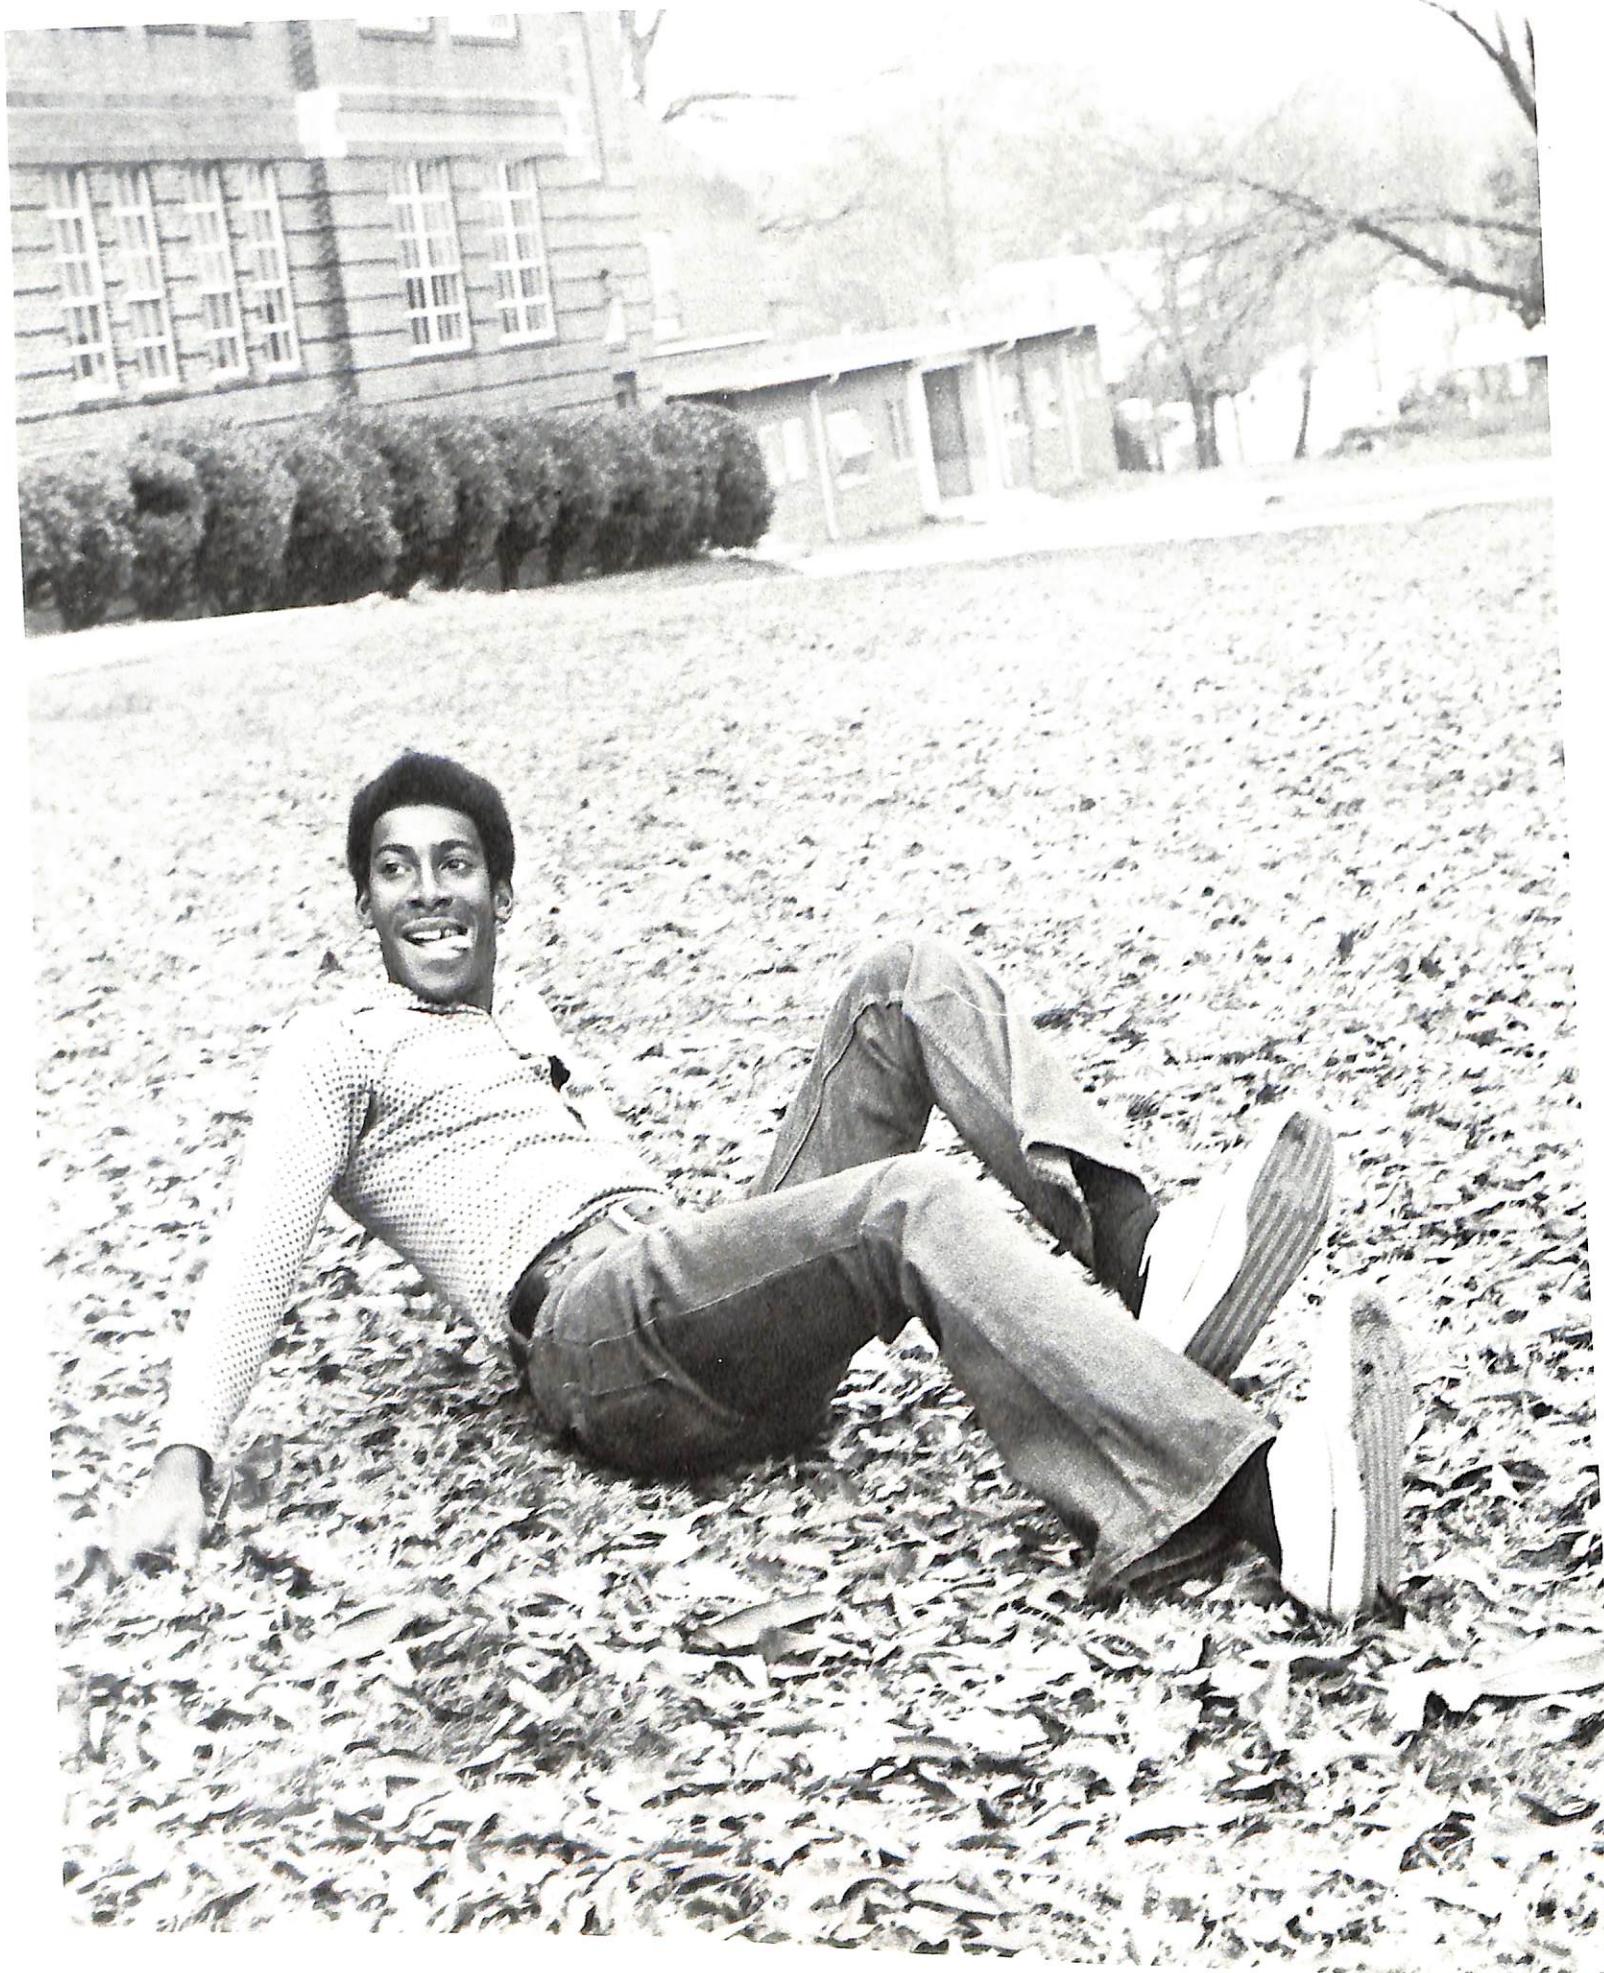

We resume our individuality . . .

As we continue our search;

Because knowledge is never -ending . . .

It seems—We've only just begun.

Dedication

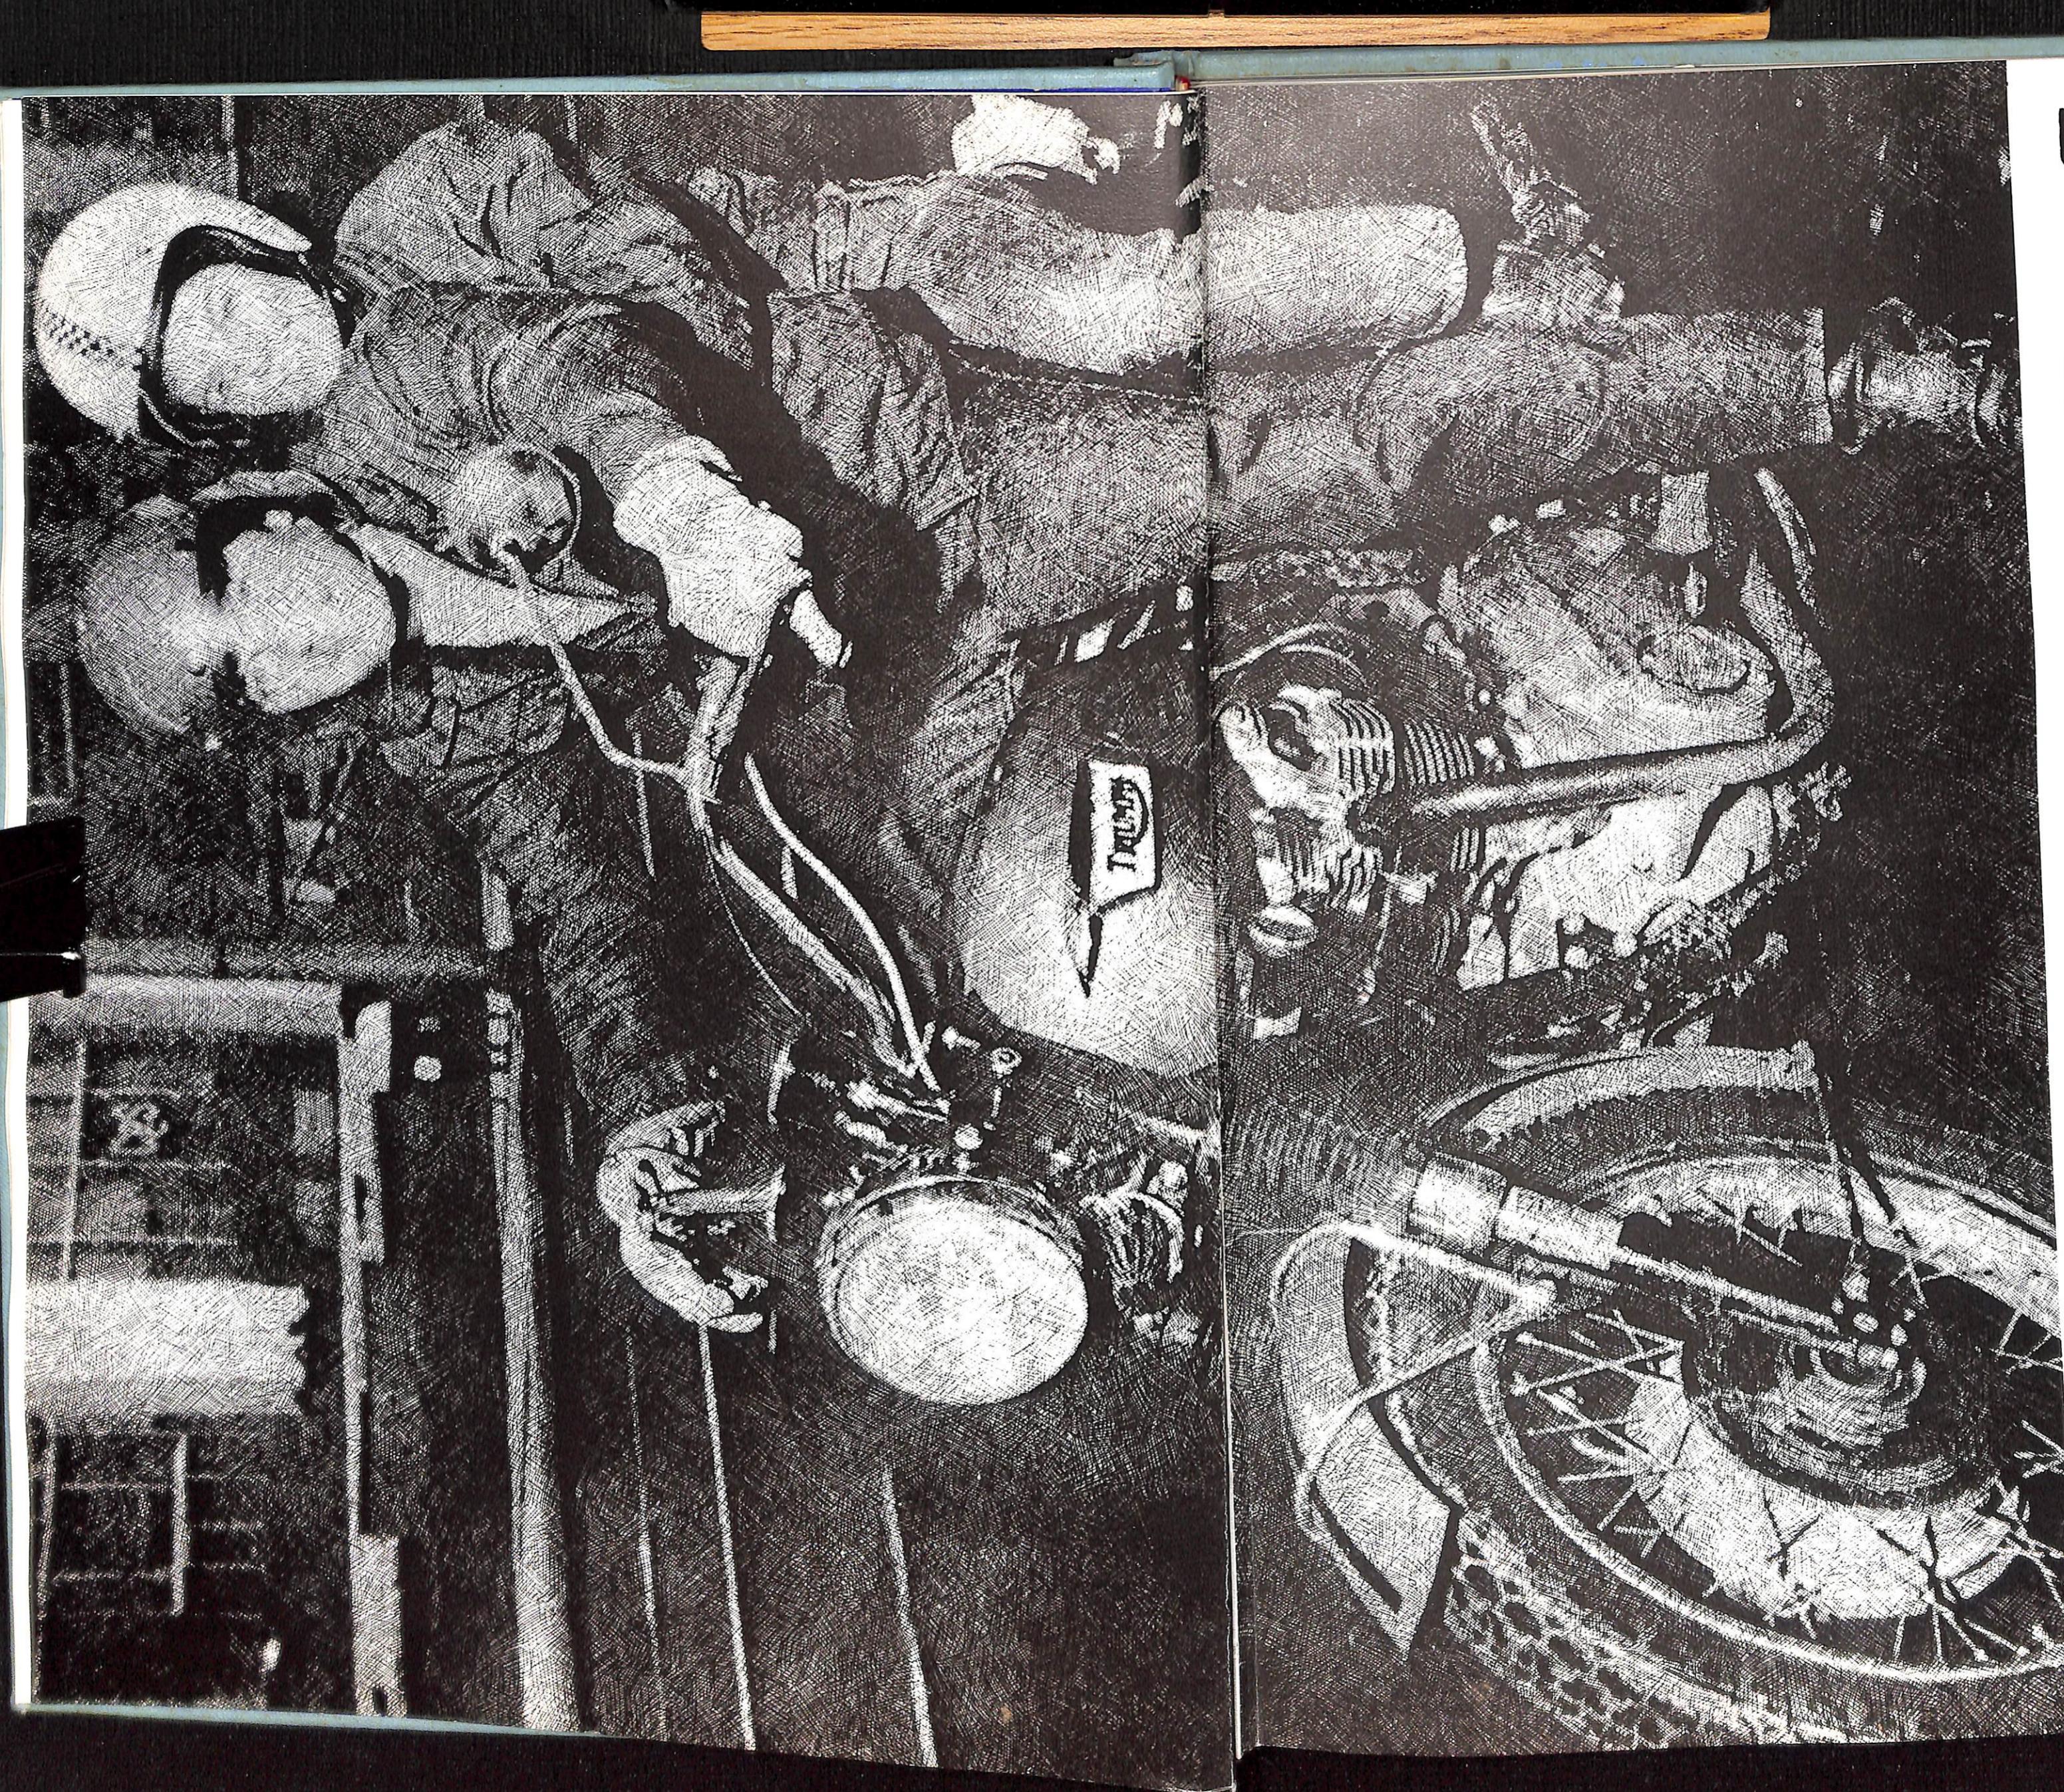

The 1972 Washingtonian is dedicated to a man admired and respected by the entire student body. Teaching us to become young adults through discipline, he put forth to us challenges and we accepted them. He challenged us to become successful individuals and true citizens. He challenged us to accept defeat and to sort the right from the wrong. In his challenges, he was preparing us for life. He was helping us to conquer those obstacles that we will often encounter as we venture into the world. He was helping us to become young men and women. The Senior Class thanks you, Mr. A. L. Salters, for your dedication and determination in making us the type of individuals others will respect and admire.

Talented Administrators Lead BTW

The standards of achievement for the students, faculty, and staff of Washington High are set under the wise leadership of Principal A. A. Dawson and Assistant Principals J. F. Leonard and A. L. Salters. Belief in this school and its students characterizes their administration.

The annual grade-level basketball contest, dubbed the A. A. Dawson Invitational Basketball Tournament, was initiated as a junior class fund-raising venture, and as a tribute to Principal Dawson's support.

Our devoted principal: A. A. Dawson

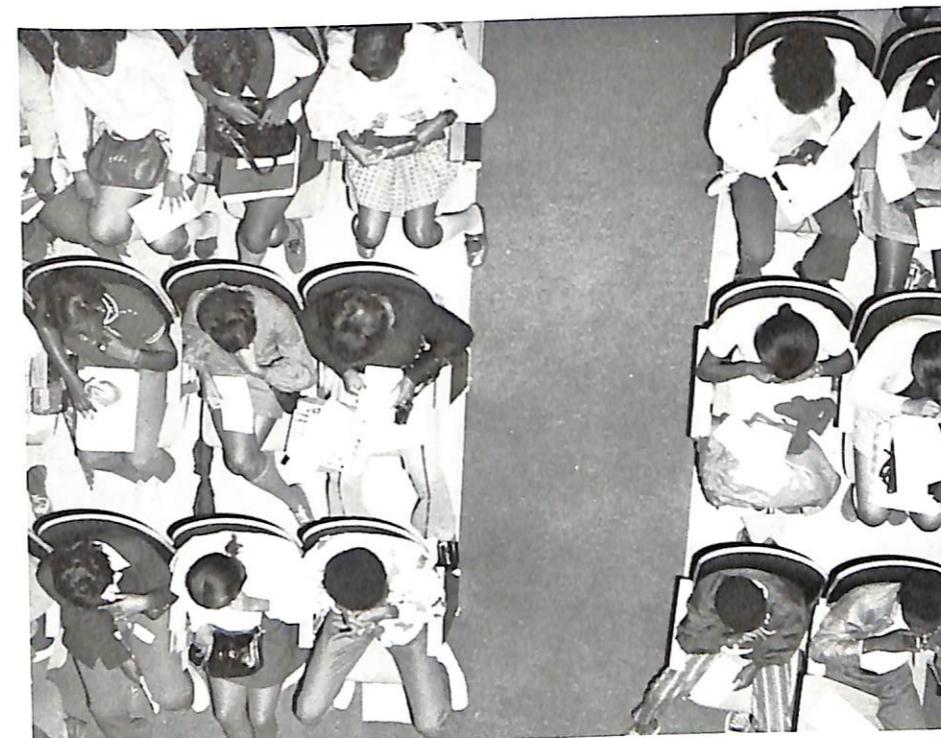

J. F. Leonard and A. L. Salters . . . Even assistant principals can smile.

Assistant Principal A. L. Salters' responsibility as head of the disciplinary office has earned him the hard looks of the erring, but respect for his dedication.

J. F. Leonard's tremendous behind-the-scenes aid in scheduling and other duties deserves special recognition.

The Guidance Department assists students beset by problems. Sympathetic counselors answer the burning questions of troubled youth. This year the department initiated the Operation Guidance survey of parents, teachers, and students to determine the effectiveness of the counseling program.

Art Study Fosters Creative Involvement

Drawing, painting, sculpture and ceramics excite B.T.W. artists. The art department makes backdrops, set designs, and posters, and has annual exhibitions.

R. L. Robertson

Art Classroom bustles with excitement of holiday decorations.

Music Creates Involvement

Energetic direction of the Marching and Concert Bands and the Girls' and Mixed Choruses induces the music department's profound impact upon school life. A demanding variety of musical selections provides sound musical training for future musicians and singers. For most Washingtonians, introduction to "the charms that soothe savage beasts" comes through moving choral functions, or the excitement of band performances at parades, half-time shows, and assemblies.

Tailoring class works hard to make garments

Development of informed consumers and skilled future employees is the practical concern of the business education department. Business students receive instruction in business operations and the development of vocational skills. Employment through the Vocational Office Training program allows students to earn money, to gain work experience while still enrolled in school, and receive credit towards graduation.

English Department Stresses Effective Communication; Student Self-Expression

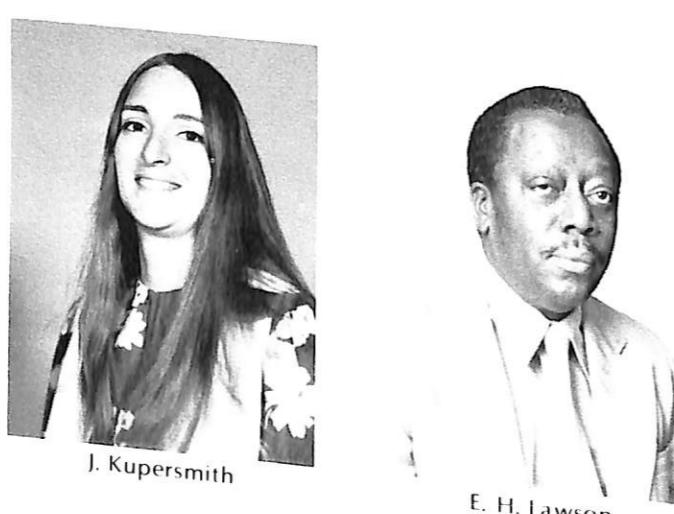

Effective communication in composition, creative writing, journalism, drama, and literature is the specialty of the English Department. A reading team attacks the language problems of poor readers. Journalism classes allow students to express themselves through the Washingtonian yearbook and newspaper.

Foreign Language Dept. Sponsors Travelers

During the summer of 1971, Washingtonians learned first hand that study of foreign languages promotes international understanding. Tuwanna Durham, Angelique McMath, and Theresa Montgomery studied in Archacon, and Paris, France under the ACTFL program, while Patricia Mathis lived for two weeks with a family in Satillo Coahuila, Mexico. In previous years, Russian students have ventured to the Soviet Union, but Celestine Terrell and Pamela Wright were eager participants in Concord College's Russian language Camp in Moorhead, Minnesota.

The mathematics enthusiasts of the faculty know mathematics is complex, but their competent guidance keeps students from realizing that fact. Students are nudged annually into entering the math contest of the Mathematical Association of America. Computer programming adds excitement to the curriculum which also offers basic mathematics through calculus.

Physical Education Develops Athletic Skills

Fencing, archery, badminton, gymnastics, field hockey, bowling, and weight training along with such stables as baseball and basketball, enable students to release frustrations caused by more bookbound subjects.

Special education widens students concept of knowledge.

Special Education tailors instruction to the needs of mentally retarded youth. Each student makes full use of his abilities and becomes confident of functioning capably in the complex world.

Science Department Inspects, Explains Natural World

Science may be considered an abstract subject, but simple awareness of the "romance of living", the ordinary phenomenon of the natural world, concerns the Science Department. Emulation of the techniques of scientific research in conducting experiments induces students to understand the process whereby man discovers new concepts. Levels of instruction include earth science, pre-chemistry, biology, chemistry, human biology, and physics.

Technical Education Department Teaches Vocations; DE, DCT Give Job Experience

Technical Education offers a comprehensive program of vocational instruction, introducing students to fields that require sound training. Automotive technology, wood-and metal-working, drafting, electronics, and food service, along with aviation and driver training are among the practical skills taught.

Through Diversified Cooperative Training and Distributive Education, students apply their skills in jobs while receiving course credit.

The specialized staffs of the Washington High family deserve hearty praise for their roles in assisting in effective school operations. The library staff maintains the library as a valuable center of research and amusement. School administration depends upon the secretarial staff for handling of needed but immense amounts of paperwork. The busy maintenance department's responsibility is the up-keep of the grounds and buildings. 1700 nutritious meals are prepared and served daily by the cafeteria staff. Clinic operations and health care is the concern of the school nurse.

Class Poem

None More Than We

Just over the next hill,
Our sun will shine,
As if to rush up
And shake hands with endless time.

Beyond the highest mountains,
Our dreams will climb;
And our goals shall be found
Atop the tallest Georgia pine.

Among heaven's pearl lights
Is where we long to be;
And no one can search
More than we.

Sarah Hansford

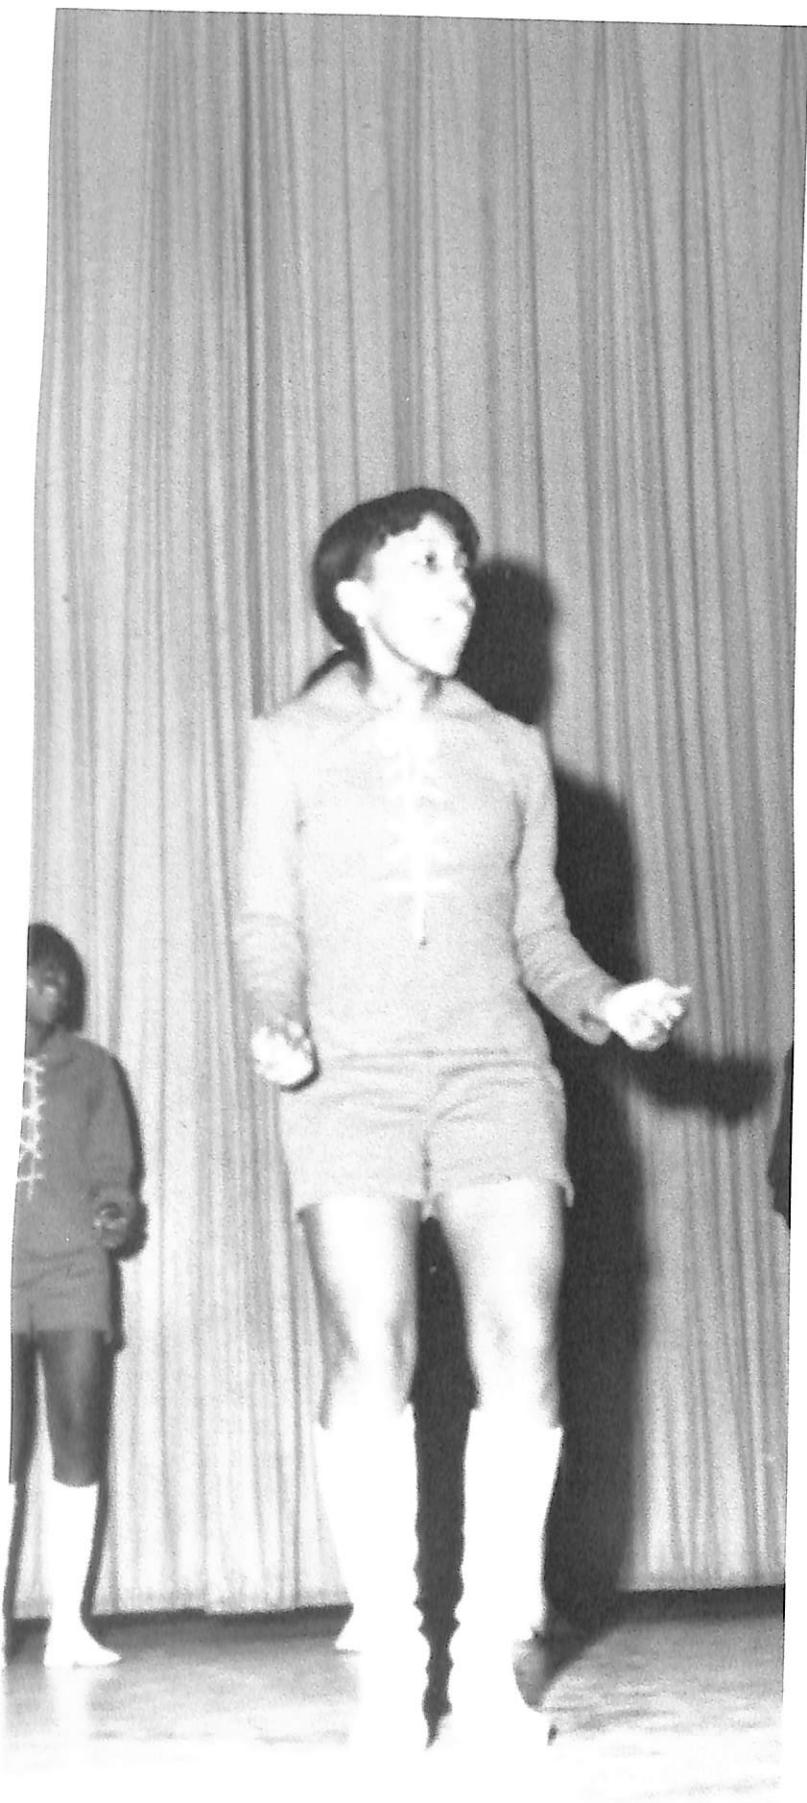

Class Song

By Carol E. Willis

The musical score consists of ten staves of handwritten music. The lyrics are written below each staff in cursive. The music is in G clef, 4/4 time, and includes various note values and rests. The lyrics are:

Wash-ing-ton, Oh Wash-ing-ton, Fare-well at last We say — Your light has brought us thus this far from it we will never stray Now the time has come to past where we must JourNEY far, with strength and courage in our hearts we'll reach that im-mortal star, Oh Wash-ing-ton Fare-well we say your love will see us through.
When we've reached our distant dreams in years to come and go — we'll always have you in our hearts because we love you so, oh, Wash-ing-ton Farewell we say your love will see us through, will see us through.

Everyday Life At B.T.W. Begins With . . .

Don't touch me!

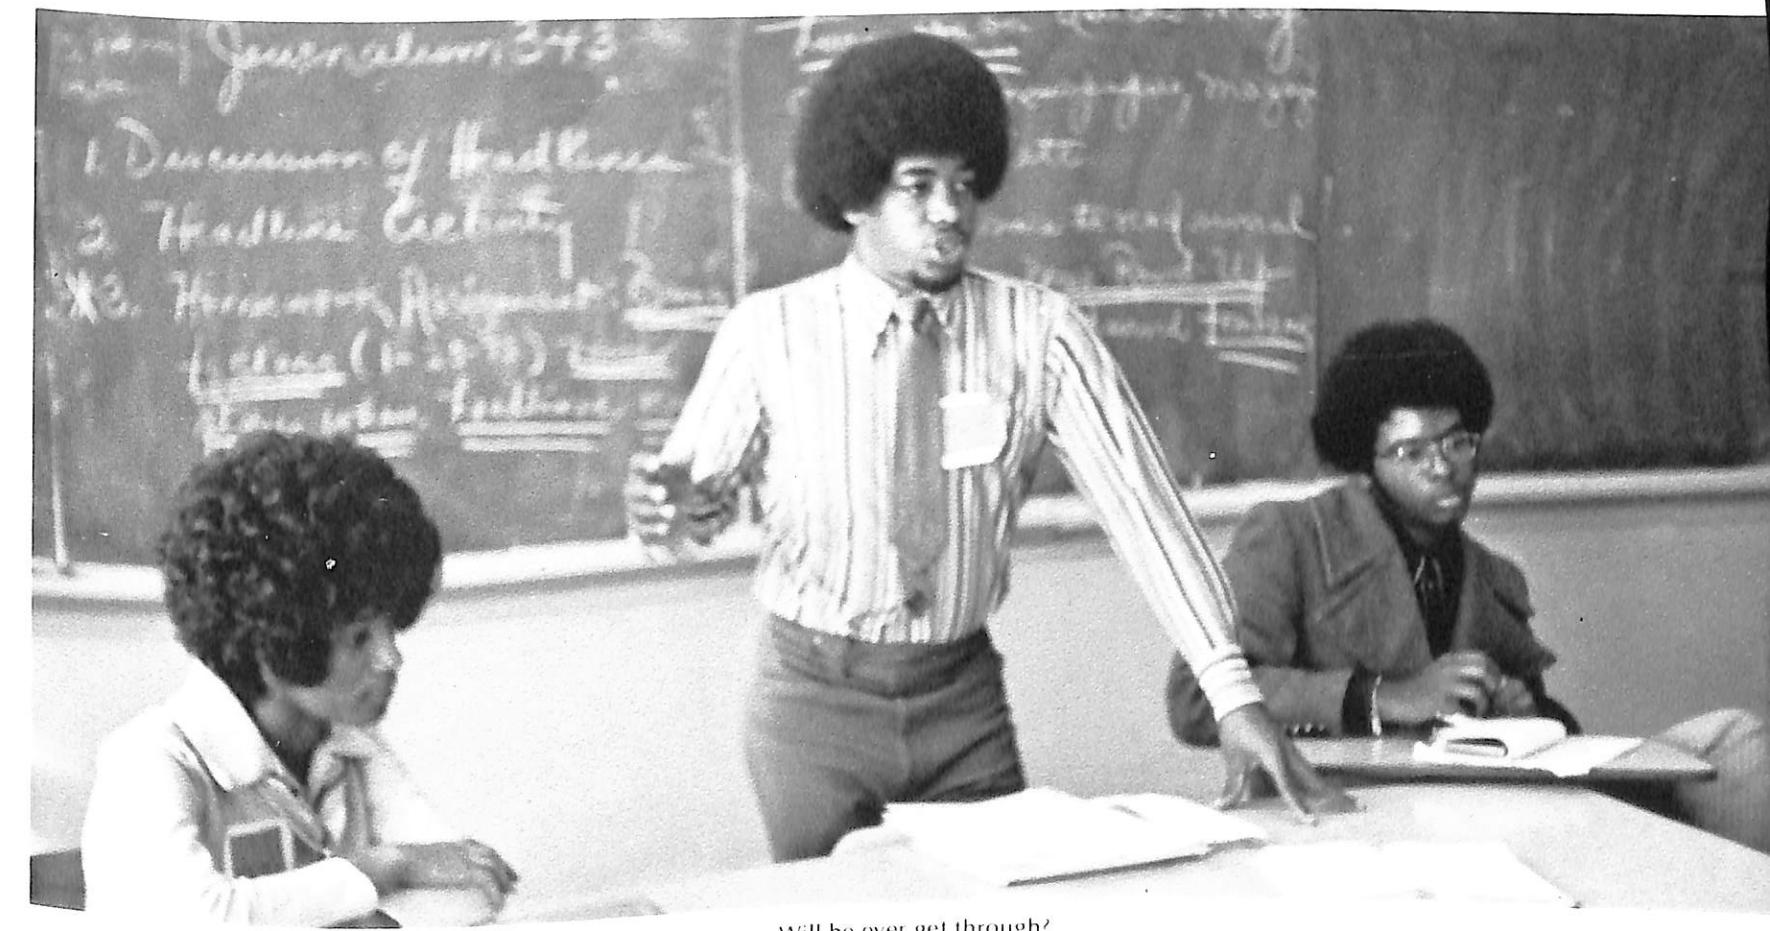

Hiding the veil of ignorance.

My girdle really does the job!

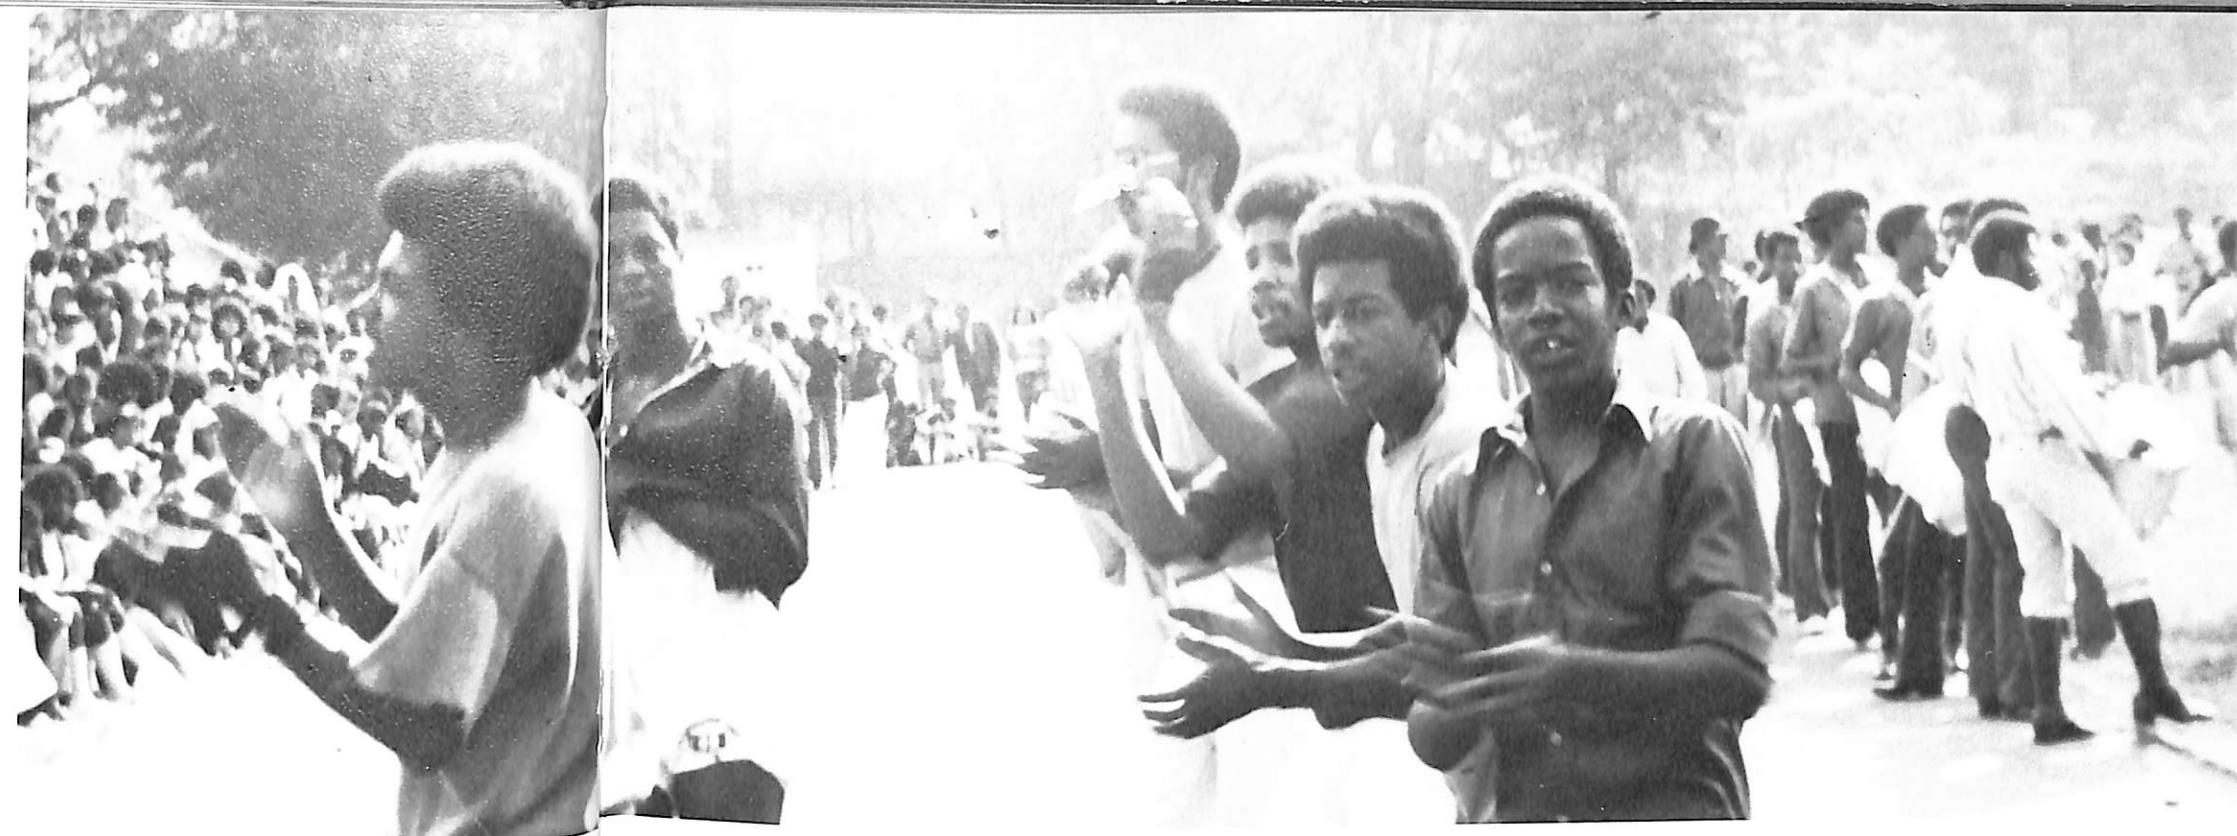

Now what did I say wrong?

Will he ever get through?

Gee! No cavities

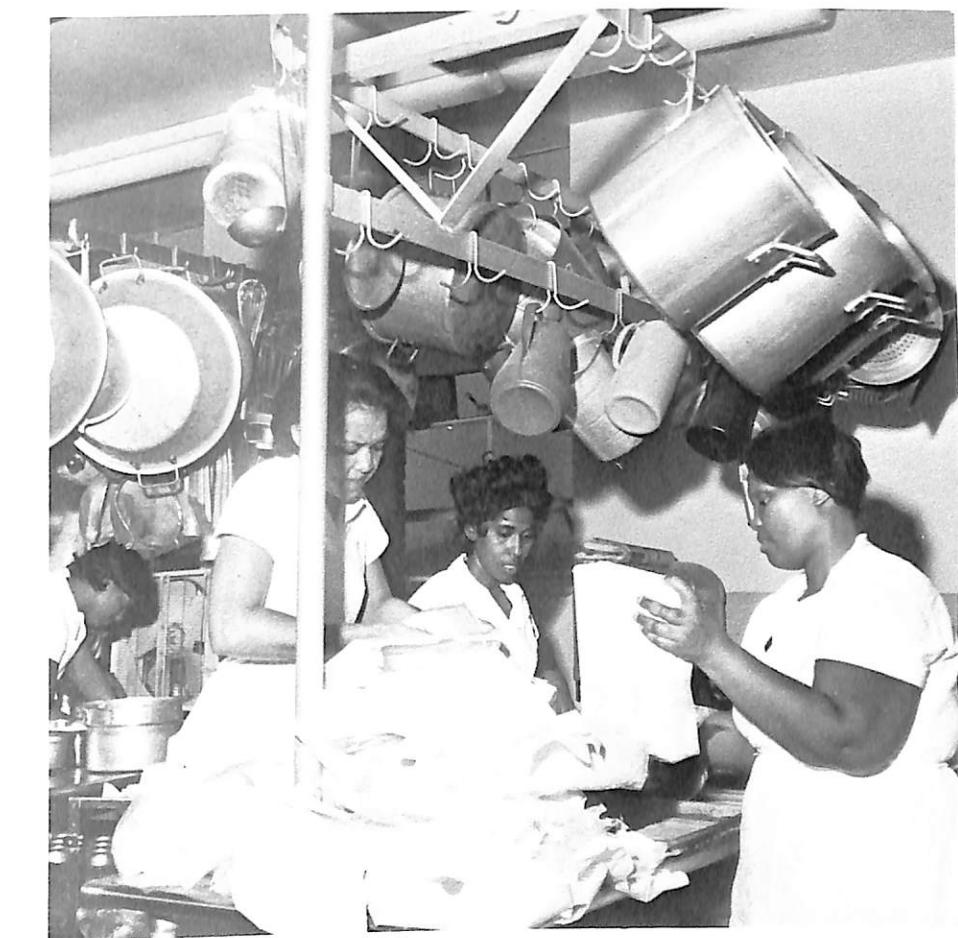

My head's aching, my bra too tight . . . from left to right.

Ummmm . . . Ok, ladies, quarter turn to the right.

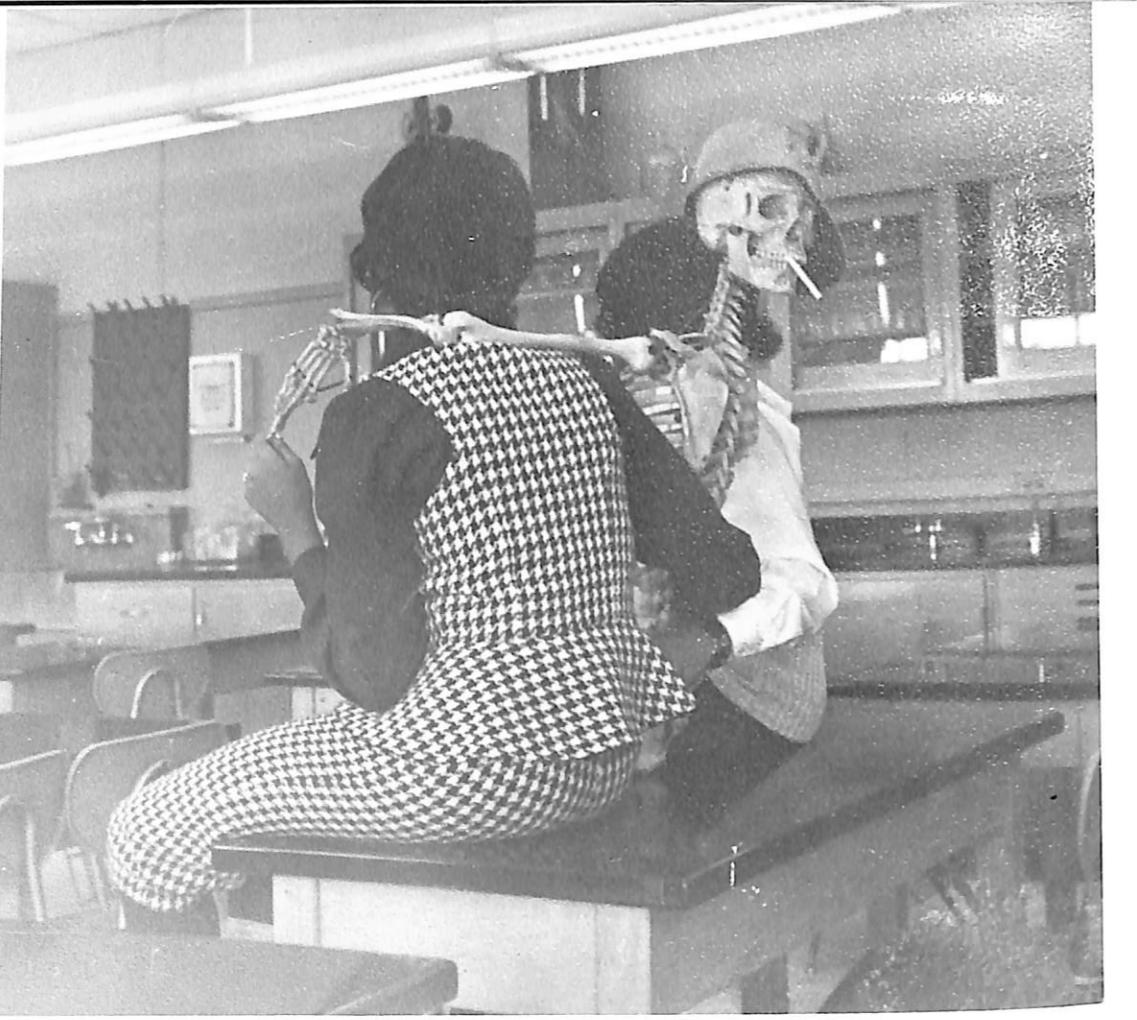

My wallet's missing.

Why do you think it takes an extra 3 hours to bake our bread?

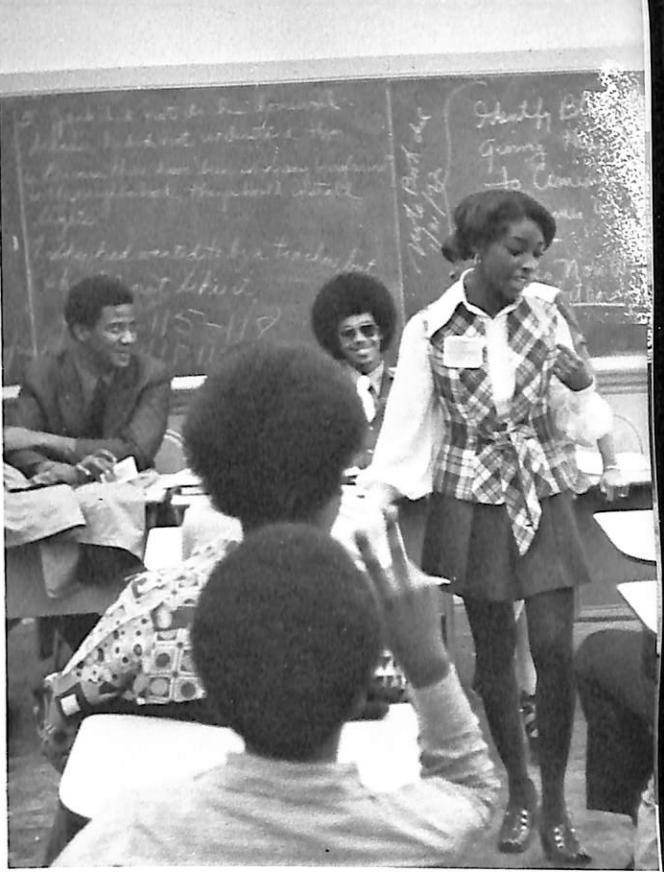

Thangs and Stuff Stuff and Thangs

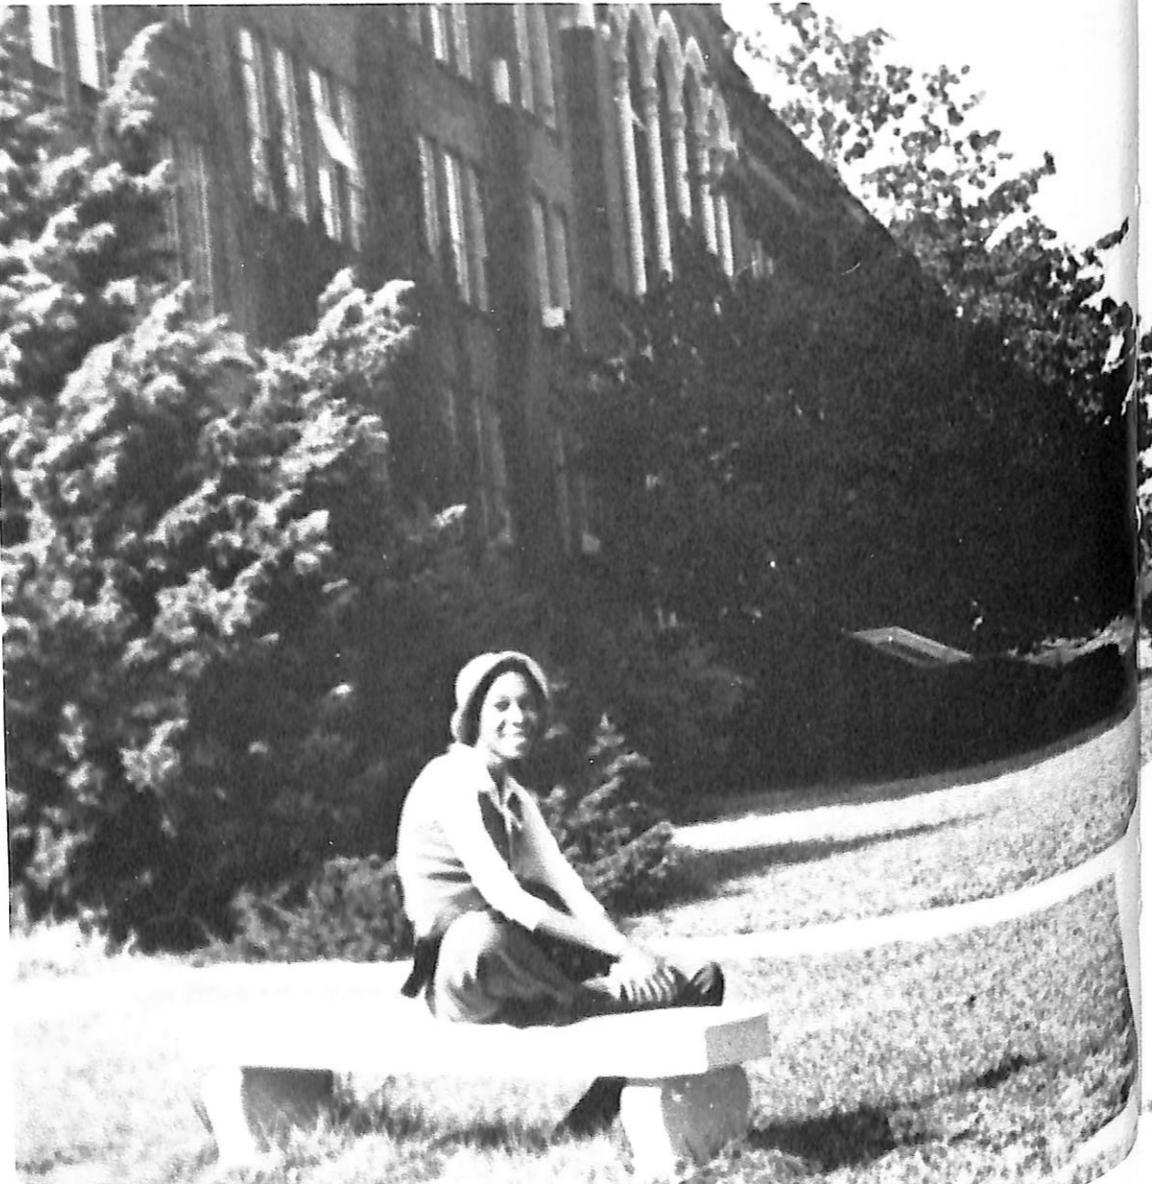

Women and smoking . . . see what it's done to me?

What you see is what you get.

As your President for 1982, I promise to Cuttin class in the grass.

A day at the zoo!

Try it . . . you'll like it . . .

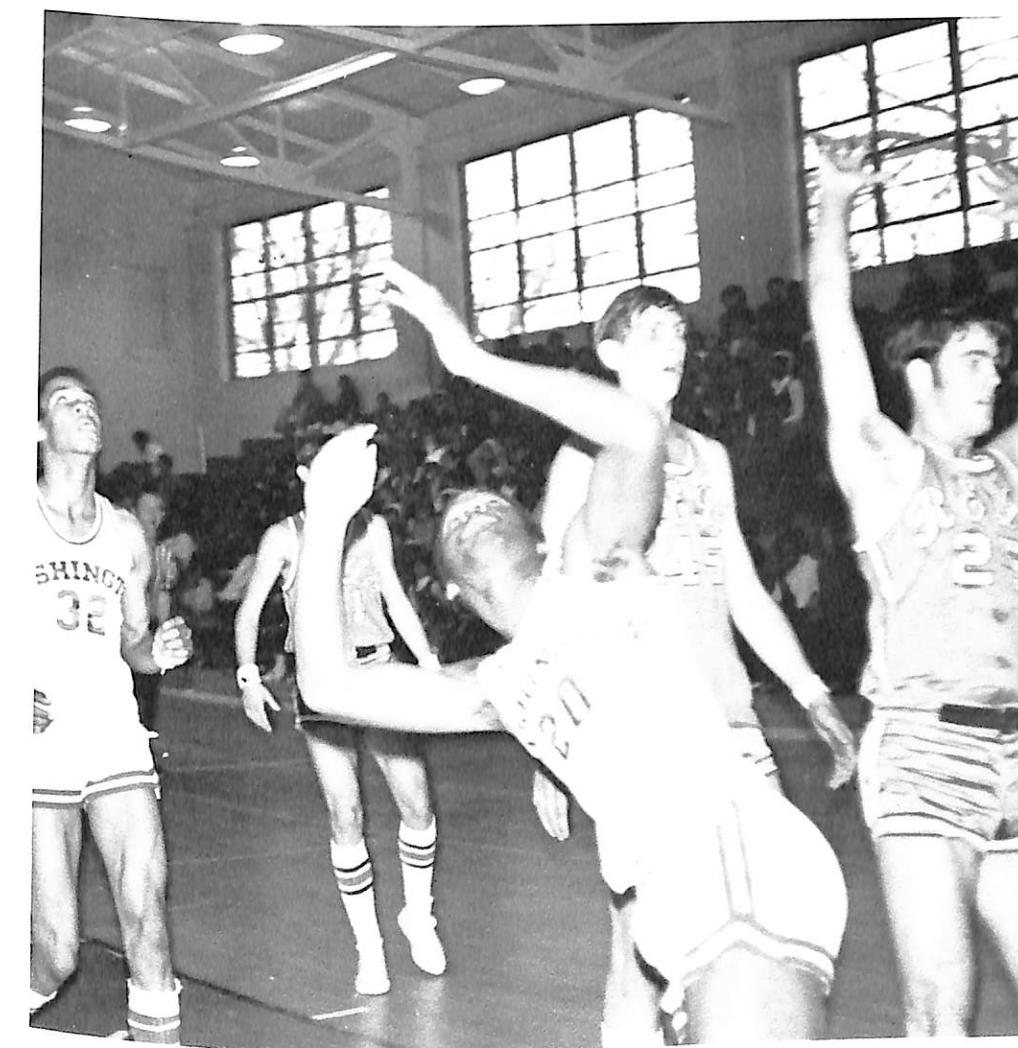

I tried it . . . thought I was goin' to die!

I'm really not as bad as I look, sweetie!

We're slipping in the darkness.

I knew these ballet lessons would come in handy, coach.

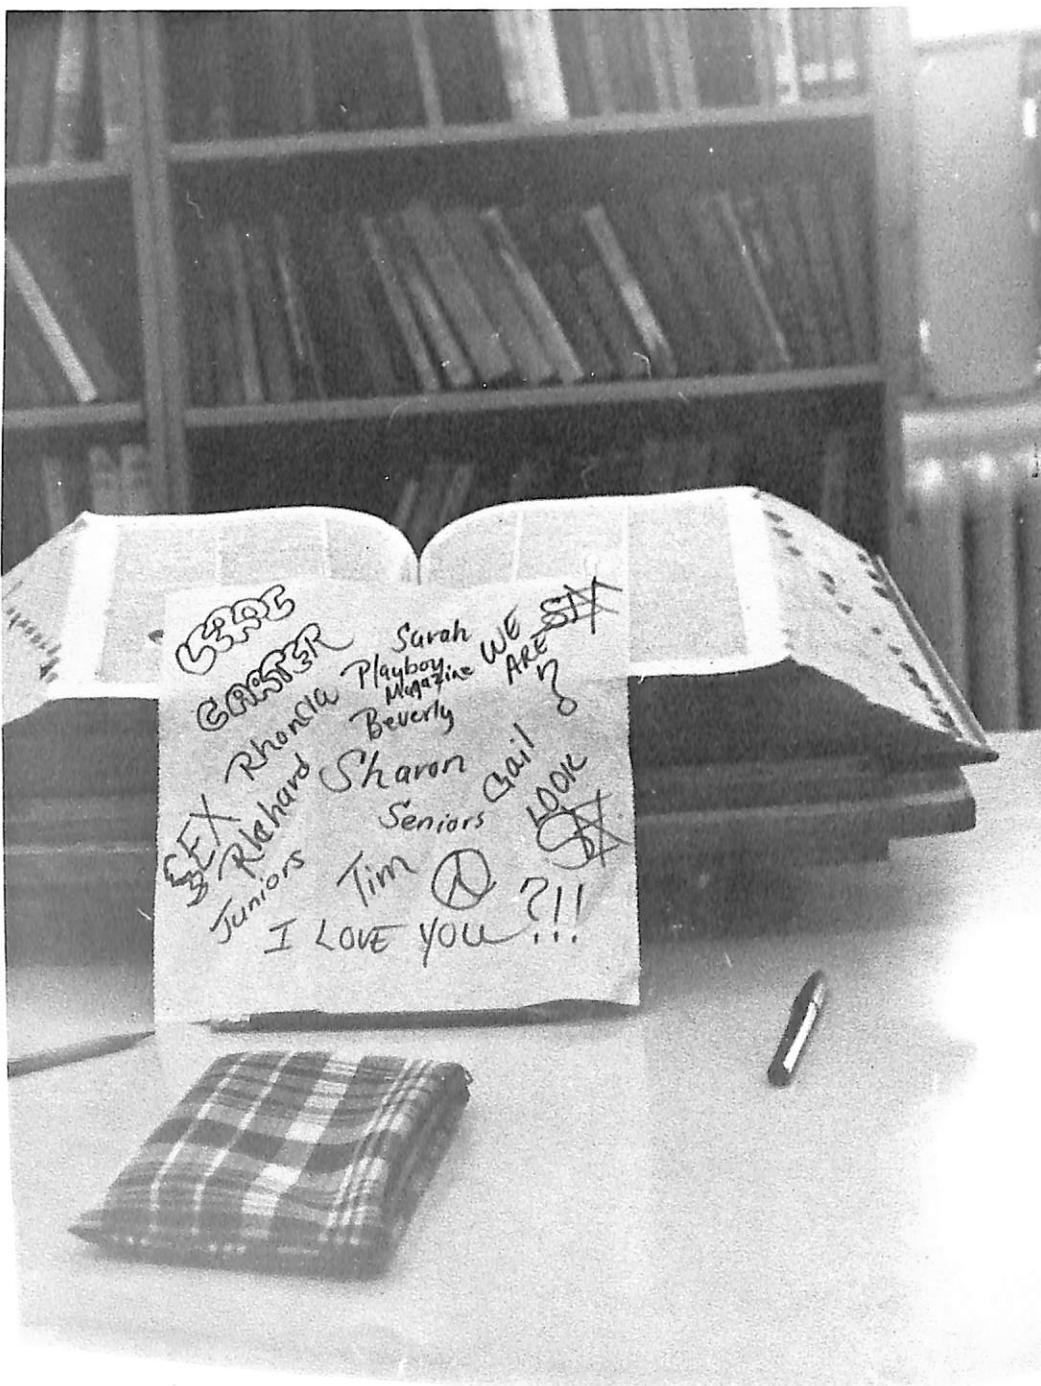

Isn't he sweet!

Our Mad Mad World

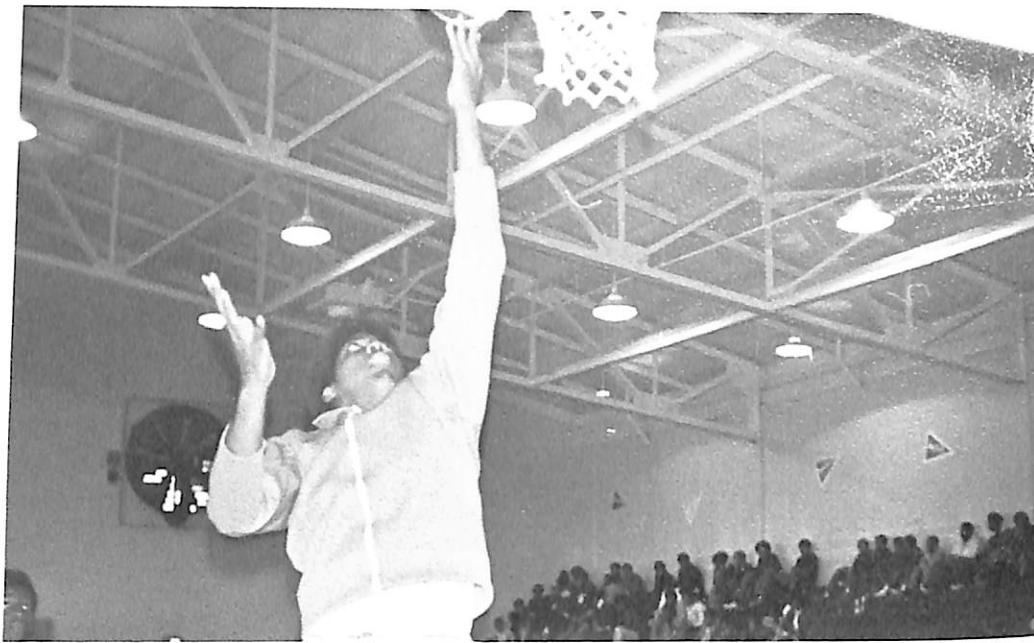

Different Strokes . . . For Different Folks!

If you think you're tough enough to get me come on down

Our dictionary is really up to date.

Up, up and way

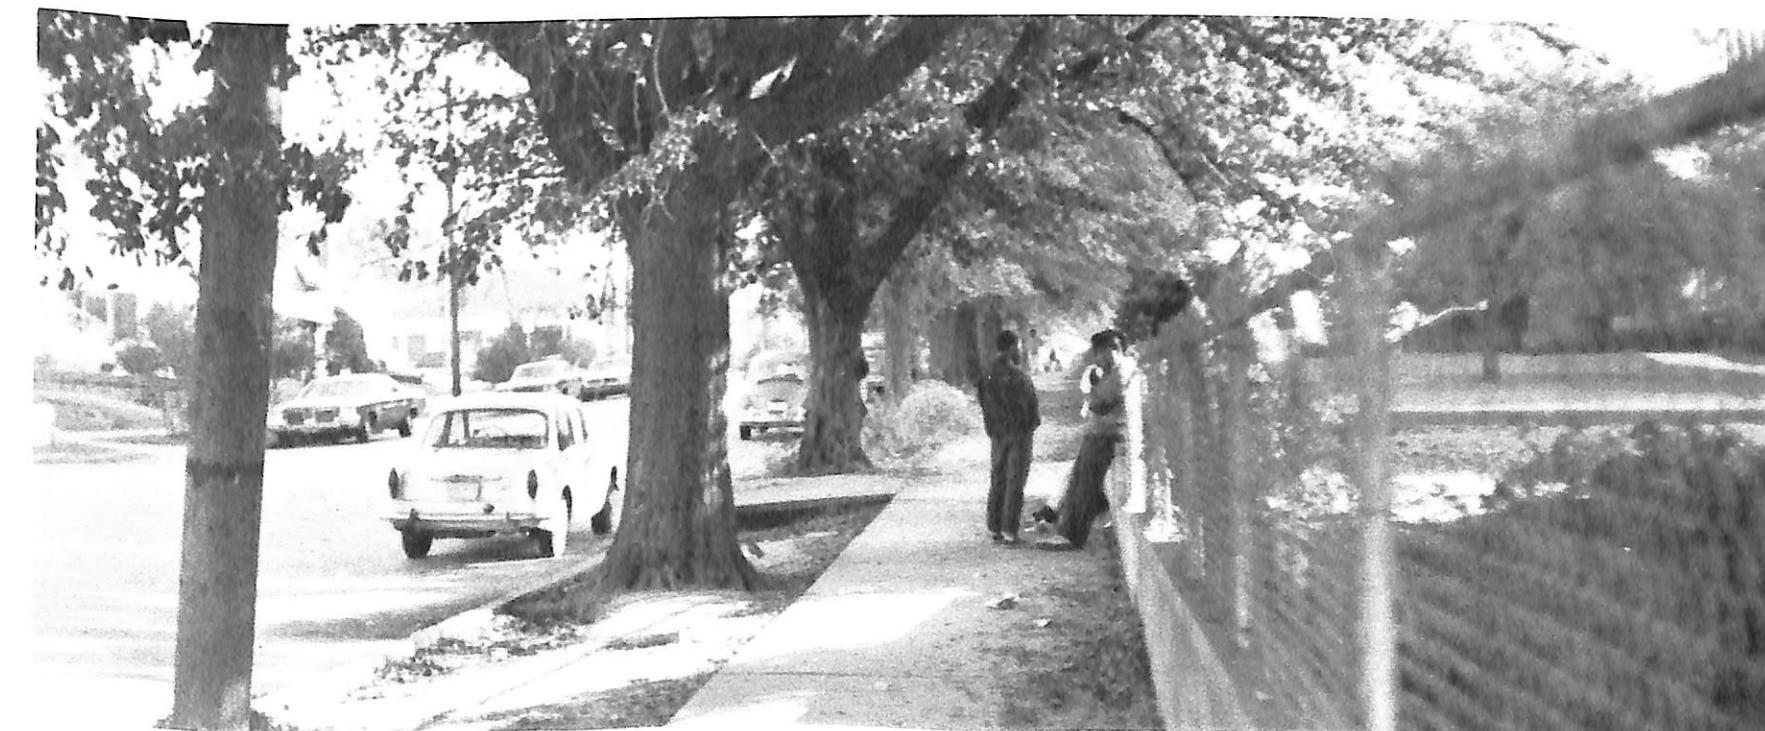

Ready or not . . . here we come.

More power to Ban.

Sunburn number . . .

Will Salters catch us here?

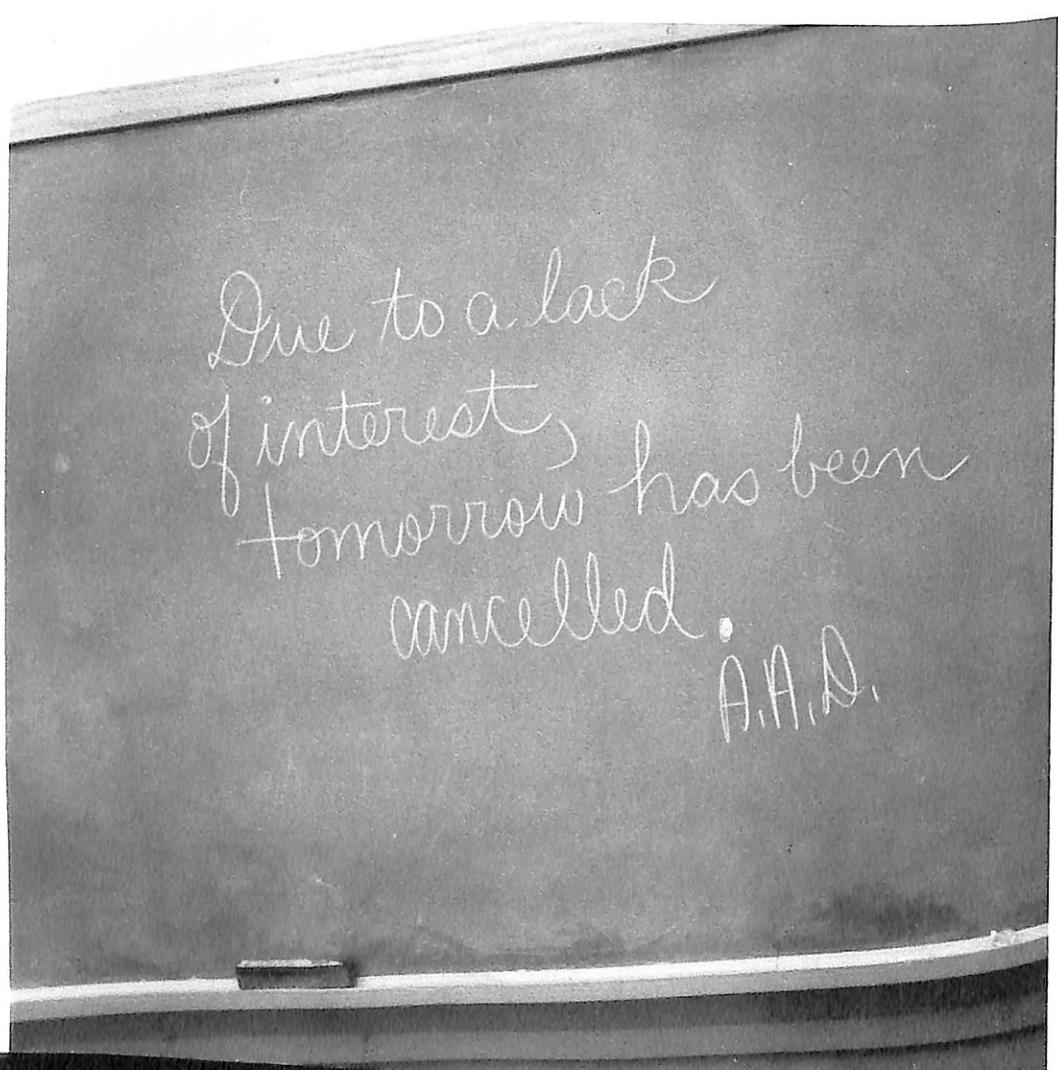

Coming Together

Whaddaya mean where's my paper? I'm using invisible ink.

Ah. Boonesfarm Strawberry Hill.

Time Passes
Time passes . . .
We learn many new things,
But there's still a lot more to learn.
In the past years of our time we have seen great things . . .

Men on the moon . . .
Black Power Movements . . .

Malcom X
King

Back to Africa Movements

All of these and a few others have some bearing on our identities whether we like it or not.

But the one big thing was School. For us, this is where we were given tools. Maybe we learned the craft of knowledge and how to utilize it.

This place is where we learned about people. Some good, some bad. This is where your emotions got their strength or weakness. Truly we must say that school has taught us more than English, Math, or Science.

We learned things about life, the good, the bad, and the ugly. We learned of love. In a recent movie they said, "Love is never saying you're sorry." But love can die or drive you into the very pits of hell. For even after heartbreak a person finds "someone new." But we learn.

School is where some of us become individuals, others, just got to have a runnin' partner or two. It's where we were either turned on or off by some of the teachers, students, or just plain people. In years to come we can all sit back and say that school was really the best thing that happened to us while we were young.

Miscellaneous

You never knew where I was from; nor I. I was placed here for some unknown reason: maybe just to turn old and gray. Whatever the reason be I'll never feel as though I haven't accomplished anything in life. The simple matter of being is an accomplishment in itself.

This year I leave this institution, a little older, a little wiser. I hope to make the future a better place in my own way. You try and do the same: But don't cop out.

If ever you run into someone different than you, don't shun off their ways, rather be cool and loose, and learn. In the end it'll pay good dividends. Funny thing about people, if they're open to the people then they become vulnerable. But if he protects himself then he's sort of invulnerable to a degree. Such was the way I was in B.T.W.

My life has not been one of hoping to find a dream or perfect girl. To get an idea of what is your compatible mate you should get to know more than one type. To me that is what needs to be done, and I have done it. It's something that changes and you'll never find it the same way twice. There is something though, that I feel a strong affection for that has been in my mind for about 8 years. She's not Miss Black America but somehow I feel she's mine in my own special way.

As a closing I would like to thank the persons who made it possible for me: My grandmother, (Roberta Strickland), Arthur Montgomery, Walter Willis, F. M. Brid, "Champ", J. Grant, and myself for being a SENIOR.

Congratulations Michael Strickland

LOVE?

Is it a disease that has no cure?
Is it that you aren't quite sure?
Can it be found in just one thing?
You'd say you love me,
but if I die,
Would you mean it when you cry?
Is love a bug that bites at the wrong
time,
Or is it a poem or rhythm and rhyme?
Is it the warmth that keeps us from cold,
Or is it something to cherish when we get quite old?
Can it be measured like silver or gold?
Can it be what you feel when you touch that certain soul?
Love, can it be held in the palm of your hand?
Can it be felt for your native land?
Is it a tool used to break a heart?
Or something to cling to, to start a new life?
It's truly a question perplexing and pretentious.
Some of its answers are seemingly hilarious.
No matter what the question be
We've got to find the answer
YOU and ME.

Epilogue

Our objective was to compile this year's Washingtonian to bring back special memories of the year 1971-72. We have worked diligently to fulfill your expectations, and although it was difficult to capture all those special moments, we feel we have not failed you.

To produce this book, it took dedication, willingness, and understanding of all those who helped us. Special thanks is given to Mrs. A. G. Williams, our advisor, the staff, our Paragon Representative, Mr. Charlie Moreland, Mr. A. L. Waters, and Mr. Robert Spaulding.

As our lives terminate here at B. T. Washington, our spirits shall remain immortal, because with each step we take, it seems . . . We've only just begun!
