

End Of An Era

Founded in 1924 by an Atlanta community that supported a common vision of students having the ability to overachieve, world renowned Booker T. Washington High School established and continues to promote a tradition of breaking barriers as demonstrated by the success of its alumnus in nearly every profession. "I Can't" is not in its students vocabulary. Through its doors young people step into a world filled with new and various academic challenges and step out ready to excel.

This book is a celebration of B.T. Washington's tradition, the current student body, and its future graduates who will continue to show and prove why we produce the finest graduates of any school operating in the State of Georgia.
