

Move On When Ready

Attention Junior and Senior Students

Have you heard about Move On When Ready (MOWR)?

What is Move On When Ready?

- This is a new dual enrollment opportunity for students to attend a postsecondary institution full-time during their junior and/or senior year of high school.
- Students will receive high school credit and college credit simultaneously while attending college classes on the college campus full-time. Approved college on-line courses can also be taken that meet high school graduation requirements.
- MOWR provides high school students the opportunity to “jump start” their postsecondary education during their high school years.
- High school students will be free to “move on” earlier to the next educational level.
- Students will have an educational alternative other than the traditional high school setting or school day structure.
- Students can save money on future college costs since most expenses are paid from the local school system funding.
